HASTILY TRIED, THEN LYNCHED

THREE TENNESSEE NEGROES HANGED FOR MURDER.

PLEADINGS ARE OF NO AVAIL

EFFORT IS MADE TO PRESERVE STATE'S HONOR.

DEATH SENTENCE IS PASSED

Court Is Hurriedly Opened by Justice, Jury Is Summoned and Evidence Heard Scarcely Is Sentence Pronounced Than Mob Acts.

UNION CITY, Tenn., Nov. 24.—The little town of Tiptonville, bordering on Reelfoot lake, which has been the scene of many stirring incidents the past month, witnessed the lynching this afternoon of three negroes, who were arrested this morning for murdering Special Deputy Sheriff Richard Burruss and fatally wounding John Hall, a deputy sheriff. The negroes were Marshall Steinback, Edward Steinback and Jim Steinback.

These brothers created a disturbance at a religious meeting near Tiptonville, Saturday night, and when the officers attempted to arrest them a fight ensued, in which the negroes shot the officers and made their escape. It was barely daybreak Sunday morning before a posse of citizens of Tiptonville and surrounding places were in pursuit, but they successfully eluded the white men until 8 o'clock this morning when they were surrounded and captured in a swamp near the village of Ridgeley. The vicinity is known as the "old river bed cane brake," and it is difficult to trace man or beast through its tangles. Once captured, however, the negroes, covered by a hundred guns, were quickly landed in jail at Tiptonville. The negroes, when arrested, had two guns in their possession, but had run out of ammunition.

Crowd Surrounds Jail.

News of the capture spread rapidly to the surrounding territory and in addition to the several hundred members of the posse, men began arriving by every road and soon the jail was surrounded by a mob which had no hesitancy in threatening a lynching quickly and surely.

One of the first citizens to mount the steps of the jail and make an appeal to the mob was J. L. Burnette, a well-known lawyer.

Mr. Burnette recalled the recent night rider outrages which had disgraced the vicinity. He admonished the hearers not to do anything desperate, but to let the law take its course, although at the same time promising full justice would be done the three black men. This met with growls of disapproval and Mr. Burnette, seeing his remarks were of no avail, pleaded with the men if they were determined to lynch the negroes, to wait till nightfall.

Taylor Hall, a brother of the injured deputy sheriff, followed Mr. Burnette. He said in effect that a postponement of the lynching until tonight would be satisfactory to him. The mob, however, was relentless and it was evident that it would be impossible to stem the tide of feeling.

Court Opened Hurriedly.

As a last resort, S. J. Caldwell, a lawyer, and Sheriff Raynes went before Justice Davis and explained the situation, telling of the menacing attitude of the crowd which thronged the principal streets leading to the jail. Justice Davis at once agreed to open his court at 5 o'clock, summon a jury of 12 men and allow the negroes, after all the evidence that could be adduced was heard, to be duly sentenced to death.

Meanwhile, Governor Patterson was advised by telephone of the situation and ordered a company of militia in this city to proceed with all haste and if possible secure the negroes and conduct them to a place of safety. The troops were started at once, but failed to arrive in time to prevent the lynching.

At the trial the evidence of those who had seen the killing was heard and in an incredibly short time the case was given the jury who in a few minutes returned a verdict of guilty, fixing the penalty at death.

The sentence had barely been passed on the three negroes, when the mob, with a whoop and a yell, swarmed the court room and seizing the prisoners, rushed them to a large tree near the edge of town and hanged them, firing volleys into the air as the bodies were drawn up from the earth.

HEMENWAY NAMES HIS COMMITTEES

MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION TO BROADEN SCOPE OF WORK.

Will Distribute Large Amount of Literature and Carry on Much Correspondence.

For a greater Colorado Springs as a commercial city, commercial point and wealth power, an active campaign has been inaugurated by the Merchants association. The association will this year endeavor to augment its activities by the wide distribution of descriptive and illustrated literature and by personal correspondence with persons seeking investment or a desirable place in which to establish a home.

During the last week President O. E. Hemenway and Secretary F. F. Wulff have responded to many inquiries regarding Colorado Springs. In each instance the inquirer was presented with facts and figures that cannot fail to appeal to the homeseeker or investor.

Committees Appointed.

President O. E. Hemenway last night appointed the following standing committees of the Merchants association for the ensuing year.

Finance—E. L. Whitney, chairman; J. F. Lilly, W. R. Armstrong.

Special—E. L. Luddeman, chairman; Taylor Thompson, Frank Axtell.

Membership—A. E. Watrous, chairman; L. J. Newsome, M. E. Cutler.

O. E. HEMENWAY,

President Merchants Association.

Commerce and Trade Expansion—L. H. Gowdy, chairman; Charles T. Fertig, A. J. Smith.

Municipal Affairs—L. A. Puffer, chairman; C. E. Emery, F. T. Metzler.

Grievance—L. J. Pelta, chairman; H. C. Chapman, W. H. Wise.

Special Committee for Publicity Bureau—George S. Eigtun, chairman; W. S. Dunning, W. H. Metz, Ira A. Miller, M. B. Clotworthy.

WORKINGMEN'S CLUB MAY BE CLOSED UP

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS TO BE PROSECUTED.

Illegal Sale of Liquor Charged by J. M. Holliman—Place Has Bad Name.

The first step in the suppression of the Workingmen's club at 23½ East Huerfano street was taken yesterday when Chief of Police W. S. Reynolds served warrants on Alderman Carl Albin, manager; Thomas Jones, city plumbing inspector and president of the club, and George Roper, a director, and also on the club as an organization, charging the illegal sale of liquor. The warrants were sworn to by J. M. Holliman, who alleges that liquor was sold in the club to his son, Robert Holliman, a minor, on or about October 18, last.

The officers met with no resistance in serving the warrants and the persons named were taken to the city police station where they appeared before Police Magistrate Gandy and were given a continuance until Friday.

It is the opinion in police circles that in the meantime, Alderman Albin will make good his threat of having warrants served on several other of the clubs in this city against which it is said he claims to have evidence.

Other Warrants Issued.

CONGRESS SEES A GRIND AHEAD

MUCH SELF-PITY MANIFESTED AMONG MEMBERS.

TWO YEARS OF HARD WORK

EXTRA SESSION MAY LAST ALL SUMMER.

TARIFF IS TO BE TACKLED

Fourth of July may Find Measure Far From Completion—Taft's Influence Matter of Much Speculation—Aldrich Bill Will Be Discussed.

Special to The Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A great deal of self-pity is manifested this fall among members of Congress, especially among those who secured re-election on this month at the hands of admiring constituencies. They see before them two years of the hardest kind of work and the necessity of spending a greater part of two summers in Washington. If there is anything calculated to make a statesman unhappy, it is the prospect of being detained at the capital after the first of June.

There is brave talk that the tariff bill will be passed and the extra session ended by the 30th of June, but no one really believes it. The Fourth of July is much more likely to find the measure far from completion. The extra session is scheduled to begin about the middle of March, and the House will have to be organized and committees appointed before it can get down to work. It hardly can be hoped that the bill will be reported out of the ways and means committee before the first of April. Of course, if the House organization sees fit, it can limit debate to one day or one week or whatever length of time it agrees upon, but any such attempt would be exceedingly dangerous to the measure. The Republican majority in the next House will not be sufficiently large to justify high-handed methods, for there will be a considerable number of Republican members who will not like the bill as it will come out of committee and who will want to offer amendments and make speeches. Should they be denied, they might join with the Democrats and do things to the bill that the Republican managers would not like.

Will Have Substitute Bill.

If the House passes the bill and sends it on to the Senate by the first of May, it will be doing exceedingly well. Then it will be referred to the Senate finance committee to be remade to the liking of Senator Aldrich and his colleagues. This may not take much

WHERE IS EBERLY CONCERT PARTY?

SECRETARY HALL AND PUBLIC MUCH DISAPPOINTED.

Company Booked to Play Last Night Failed to Arrive Will Be Here Friday.

Somewhere in eastern Colorado, the Eberly concert party was playing last night, while 1,000 disappointed holders of tickets to the Y. M. C. A. star course in this city, clamored for admittance to the Opera House, dark because of the nonappearance of the company. Not until late yesterday afternoon was General Secretary Hall of the Y. M. C. A. apprised of the fact that the company would not appear according to contract. He knew that the company was not stranded or walking the ties, because they are backed by the bank roll of a strong lyceum bureau. Later he was informed that the booking agency had confused the dates and that the company was scheduled to appear in this city Friday night, nothwithstanding the fact that the contract called for last night. Vague information contained in the apologetic telegram did not even reveal the whereabouts of the company, merely conveying the information that the production would be given here Friday night.

That made a nice little predicament for Mr. Hall. However, he was equal to emergency and as the expectant crowd assembled in the Opera House lobby, he told them the story of the postponement. He did not like to do it, but it was up to him to square himself with the crowd. When the situation had been fully explained and when everybody had been convinced that the fault lay in a mixup of dates in the booking agency and not with the local Y. M. C. A., dispersed in good humor upon assurance that their tickets would be good for the production Friday night.

The surprise and disappointment of General Secretary Hall in the nonappearance of the company, was only equalled by the amazement of the manager of the production when he learned that the company had been booked to appear in two places at once. The lyceum bureau has guaranteed the appearance of the company here Friday night.

The Eberly Concert party is one of the strongest musical organizations on the road. Each member of the com-

FRED W. CARPENTER TO BE TAFT'S SECRETARY; POSITION REQUIRES GREAT ABILITY AND TACT

Special to The Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Fred W. Carpenter will be President Taft's private secretary and as such will become an important factor in Washington political and social life during the next four years.

The office of secretary to the President is of the highest importance, requiring a man of quick decision, strong will, smooth diplomacy. He is the official mouthpiece of the administration, and his remarks are quoted as though the President had himself spoken. A slip of the tongue may embarrass the entire nation. In addition to this, he must stand between the President and the outside world when the occasion demands, and must handle the situation in such a way as to not embarrass his superior. He must live, talk and act the life of the President.

George B. Cortelyou and William Loeb, the last two secretaries, have made themselves internationally famous through this position.

FINDS DEAD BROTHER THROUGH NEWS ITEM

OHIO MAN HAS AN UNUSUAL EXPERIENCE.

Comes to Springs and Identifies Body of James E. Farley—Funeral Today.

By the mere chance of picking up a newspaper in a restaurant and happening to read an item of less than 50 words, John W. Farley, a prosperous business man of Portsmouth, Ohio, was made aware of the fact that his brother, whom he had long ago given up for dead, was lying dead in the morgue in Colorado Springs waiting to be identified by relatives, none of whom could be located by the authorities in this city. Neither of the men was aware of the fact that they had any relatives left, as each had heard that the other had died many years ago, but when Mr. Farley arrived in this city yesterday he had no difficulty in identifying his brother and making clear his title to about $700 that would otherwise have been turned over to the county coffers.

Body Found on Prairie.

The body of the dead brother, James E. Farley, was found last Thursday night in a lonely spot on the prairie, near Palmer Lake, where he died suddenly of heart failure, superinduced by alcoholism. The body was taken in charge by Coroner D. F. Law and brought to this city. From the leaf of a family Bible bearing the dates of birth of all the members of the family, which was found in the pocket of the dead man, Coroner Law learned that John W. Farley lived in Columbus, Ohio, 15 years ago. He at once wired the chief of police in that city to locate the man, if possible, but efforts to do so were unavailing. Mr. Farley left that city about 12 years ago.

From the office of The Gazette a brief report of the man's death was sent over the Associated Press wires and published in the Cincinnati Enquirer, and it was this paper that John Farley happened to pick up in an idle moment in the restaurant. Mr. Farley had been so long accustomed to regard himself as the last living member of his family that it was with the most remote hope that the dead man might be his brother that he got into communication with the chief of police at Columbus and, through him, with Coroner Law in this city.

Brother Here for Funeral.

As a result, he came to this city and identified the dead body as that of his brother, whom he had believed dead for many years. Besides the satisfaction of having seen his brother once more, even though in death, Mr. Farley has recovered family records and photographs that his brother had taken from home 15 years ago and had carried through all his wanderings. This morning he will be the sole mourner at the funeral of his brother, who will be buried at Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Farley is a prosperous business man of Portsmouth, but in past years has traveled over the entire world and was through the Boer war in South Africa. It was while there that he heard that his brother in Colorado was dead, and as the man who is to be buried today heard no news of his brother after the Boer war, he naturally concluded that he had been killed. Before his death he told the people with whom he boarded in Palmer Lake that he was the last surviving member of his family, and that when he passed away there would be no one to mourn his death.

Photographs of a brother and two sisters who had died long ago were found by Coroner Law in the dead man's pocket, and the first thing that John Farley asked about was the leaf from the family Bible that he had given to James 15 years ago, and which Coroner Law had found with the photographs.

LAMPHERE CASE NEARS END

Evidence Is All in and Court's Instructions to Jury Being Prepared.

LA PORTE, Ind., Nov. 24.—The evidence is all in and the court's instructions to the jury are being prepared and tomorrow the attorneys will make their arguments in the trial of Ray Lamphere for the alleged murder of Mrs. Belle Gunness and her three children.

It is expected that the judge's instructions to the jury will be prepared before 9 o'clock tomorrow, when the arguments will begin.

MOB GETS REVENGE WITH ROTTEN EGGS

GREEN MOUNTAIN FALLS IS SCENE OF EXCITEMENT.

Women and Children Pursue Frank Hart for Informing on Boys Who Stole Pies.

Special to The Gazette.

GREEN MOUNTAIN FALLS, Nov. 24.—Pursued by a mob composed of nearly every woman and child in this place, Frank Hart, former postmaster of Green Mountain Falls, was chased down the main street of the village tonight to the accompaniment of a shower of rotten eggs, more or less accurately delivered, until he took refuge in a bakery and thus managed to give his tormentors the slip.

Owing to the prominence of the victim and the circumstances surrounding the case, the incident created the greatest excitement among the townspeople, and for some time every house was deserted while the men and boys watched the women and little children meting out to the object of their wrath the punishment deemed adequate for what they took to be an act of petty spite on his part against two boys.

How Trouble Started.

The affair originated in the theft by some of the mischief-loving boys, of a number of pies and cakes that had been prepared for a neighborhood party last week, at the home of E. R. Taylor. The act was passed off as a practical joke by all concerned with the exception of Hart, who took personal umbrage at the petty theft and laid information against the boys to Probation Officer W. M. Reasoner of Colorado Springs. Reasoner came to this place today to investigate the matter, and the indignation of the populace against Hart was roused to such a pitch that when he appeared on the streets tonight he was greeted with a deluge of rotten eggs from the women and children.

GREAT WORK IN NEW YORK

QUESTION OF NEED, NOT WORTHINESS, CONSIDERED.

Haskin Writes of Great Uplift by Society.

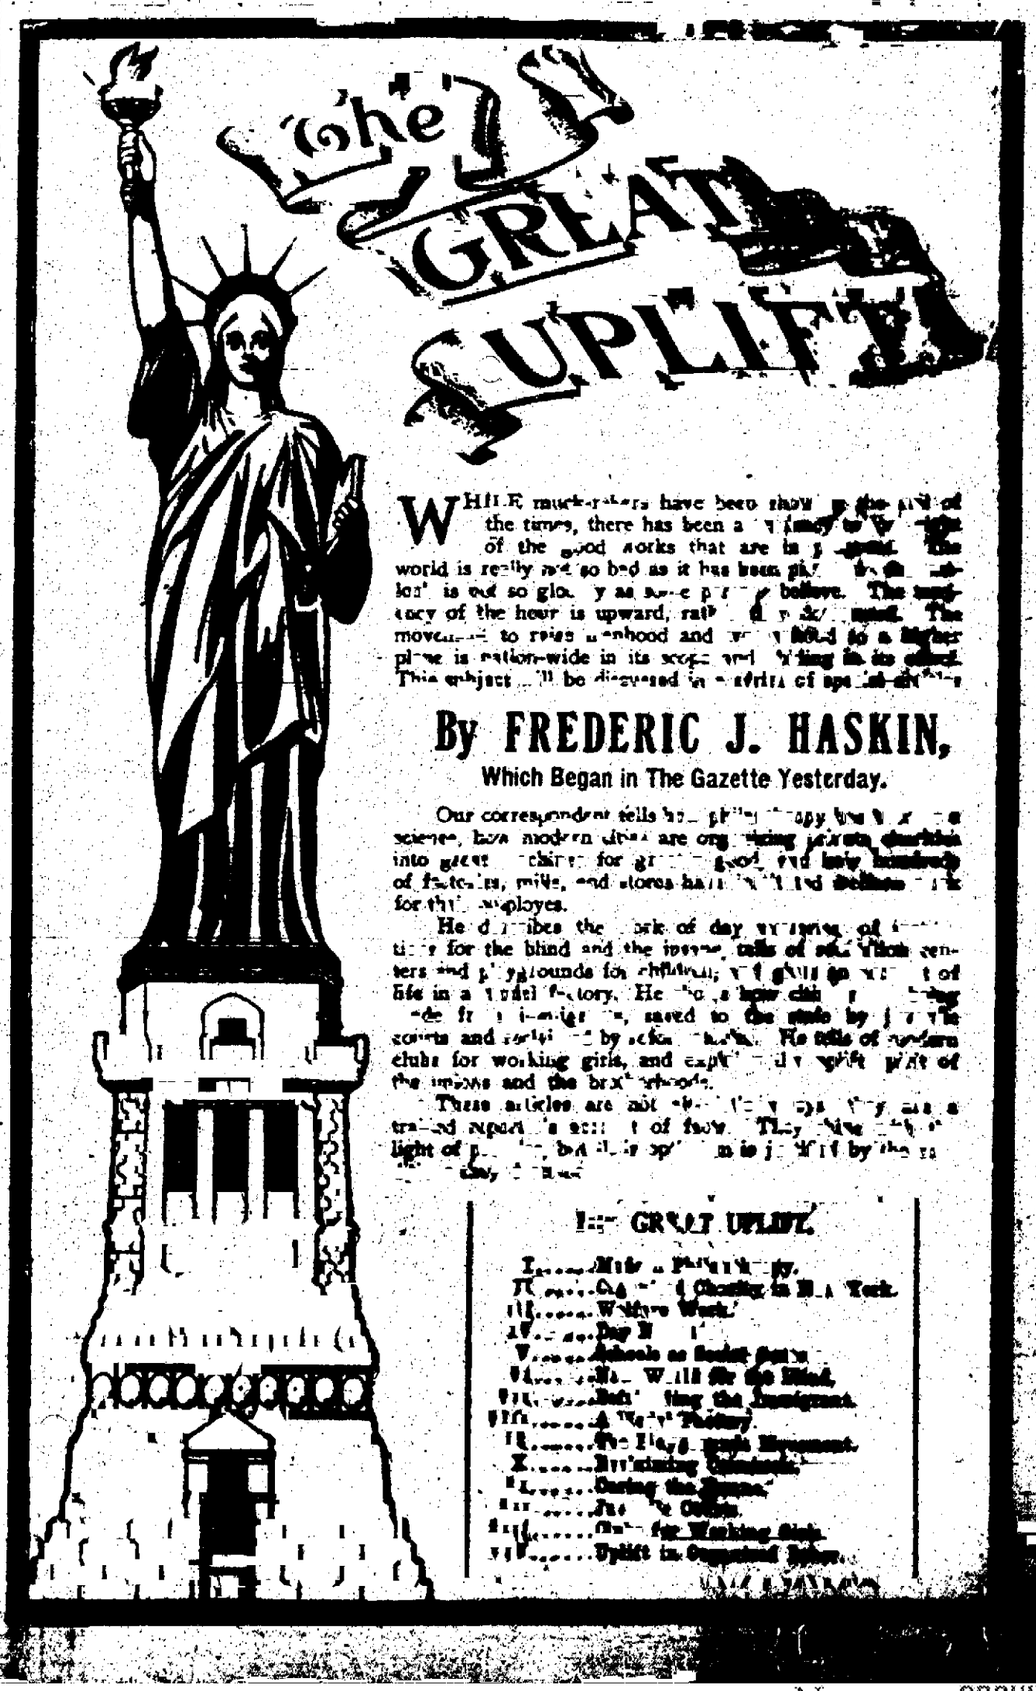

By Frederic J. Haskin.

II. ORGANIZED CHARITY IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—To enter the home of the Charity Organization society of New York is like going into a big, helpful hospital, whose wards are open to the care of special cases of humanity's social and industrial woes, and whose laboratories are devoted to the discovery of the germs of want, intemperance, idleness, inefficiency and ignorance that cause the two big diseases, poverty and crime. To recite your especial case to the people in charge is like detailing it to personal friends; even better than that, for to the sympathy that friends give is added the understanding and power of organized helpfulness known only to the trained charity worker.

Take for example, this hypothetical case of a widow with three children, who, finding she cannot make her light any further alone, asks for help. The society has arbitrarily divided the city into 10 districts to facilitate its working efficiency. It determines in which of these the widow lives and an agent from the district office looks into the case. He first sees just what her own earning power is since her income is not sufficient for her needs, and finds out how much help she may expect from her relatives or her church. These failing, the agent goes carefully over her housekeeping budget with her, helps her determine the amount she should pay for rent, for warm clothing, for wholesome food, and then ap-

MORSE STEAMSHIP COMPANY IS SAVED

NEW $10,000,000 CORPORATION FORMED.

Boston Parties Largely Interested in Enterprise — Company Operates From New York Southward

BOSTON Nov 24.—The incorporation at Portland, Me, today of a new $40,000,000 corporation to be known as the Atlantic Gulf and West Indies Steamship lines, with Henry H Mallory of New York as president and with substantial backing by Boston bankers, was in line with a plan formulated by interested parties to save from complete wreck the constructed steamship company promoted by Charles W Morse of New York The lines to be taken over by the new corporation are those operating from New York southward The Boston men among the incorporators are Henry Hornblower of the banking firm of Hornblower and Weeks, and Galen L Stone of the banking firm of Hayden Stone & Co

The Morse corporation practically controlled the steam water transportation facilities of the Atlantic coast, when Morse was caught in the panic of 1907 After a few months of struggling the company on February 4 last passed into the hands of a reciever

The new company has a capital of $20,000,000 and the same amount in common stock as well as $15,000,000 in 5 per cent bonds

It will be a holding company for four of the six lines which Morse brought under the constructed company name ly the Ward Clyde Mallory and New York and Porto Rico The other two Morse lines—the eastern running east from this city and the Metropolitan between this city and New York—will remain under separate management for a time at least

The re-organization committee found that there was outstanding $62,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds of the constructed steamship company and a floating-debt of $2,400,000 which had to be financed

ROCKEFELLER BUYS RAILROAD BONDS

RELUCTANTLY TELLS WHAT HE DOES WITH MONEY.

Oil King Closes His Testimony in Federal Suit to Dissolve Trust. Archbold on Stand

NEW YORK Nov 24 Closing his testimony today in the federal suit to dissolve the Standard Oil company, John D Rockefeller threw some unexpected light on the popular question into what channels of investment flowed his tremendous earnings from the oil commission Mr Rockefeller was loath to state the names of the railroads in which his investments were made but did so after entering his objection The head of the so called "oil trust" declared that his holdings in railroads consisted chiefly in bonds and that with the exception of a few roads in which he held only small amounts of stocks he preferred the bonds as a form of investment

Mr Rockefeller's appearance on the witness stand today will likely be his last in any court proceeding He appeared greatly delighted that his long ordeal as witness was over and hurriedly left the room when counsel excused him

Mr Rockefeller said that he did not think that he should be made to tell the form of investments declaring that the gentlemen over there in the stock exchange might not think it very wise After some legal contention by counsel Mr Rockefeller said he held stock in the Delaware Lackawanna and Western the New York Central, the Pennsylvania the Western Maryland the Missouri Pacific, the Texas Pacific and the Colorado Southern. He said he owned no shares in either the Union or Southern Pacific Mr. Rockefeller said he was opposed to keeping off millions of dollars of surplus by the Standard.

John D Archbold vice president of the Standard, proved a mine of detailed information under the direction of the company's counsel regarding the early production of crude oil and the development of the pipe line system Mr Archbold will probably be on the witness stand for several days It is not unlikely that an adjournment will be taken tomorrow night until next Monday

AUTOS READY FOR RACE AT SAVANNAH

FIRST CONTEST STARTS THIS MORNING AT 11.

Fear Is Expressed That Drivers of Light Cars May Run Too Fast for Safety.

SAVANNAH Ga Nov 24—All of the foreign and American drivers who are to pilot cars in the international light car and grand prize races here were called together tonight at the headquarters of the Automobile Club of America, in the Hotel DeSoto, and given their final instructions for the race The light car event the 30-lap jaunt around a short 10 mile rectangle will be started tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, and the indications point tonight to 15 final entrants

The grand prize race of 402 miles, the longest road race ever run in America, will be started at 9 o'clock Thanksgiving morning, with 20 of the fastest cars, representing France, Italy and the United States, entered. Everything is in readiness for the light car race tomorrow The tiny racing machines will be sent away at half minute intervals, and if all goes well, the last of the 15 should hardly be under way before No. 1 comes swirling down the homestretch in completion of the first lap The unusually large number of laps to the race and the short intervals separating the cars are expected to furnish plenty of excitement to the thousands of people gathered in the grandstands

The only serious accident of the practice period for the racing here have occurred to the light cars, and there is not a little apprehension tonight lest the more daring of the drivers should send their frail little chargers along the way with too great speed for safety There are but four turns on the rectangular course, however, and all are well-banked Six hundred troops are to be thrown about the racing roads flagmen are to be stationed at the shortest intervals, and everything possible in the protection of the course will be done. With the light car race starting at 11 o'clock, the result should be known shortly after 2 p m The exact distance of the race is 396 miles

HALFBACK WHITTAKER DECIDES TO PLAY IN TOMORROW'S GREAT FOOTBALL GAME

College Stock Takes Big Jump as Result of Sacrifice to Be Made by Loyal Player Coach Richards Says Tigers Can Win if They Play With Spirit Which Characterized Mines Game.

The gloom that has pervaded the Tiger camp all this week was lifted when word was received late yesterday afternoon from Chester Whittaker, whose father died Monday, that he would report for practice this afternoon and play in tomorrow's game. This decision was reached only after he had talked over the situation with his mother and the members of the college faculty. They agreed that loyalty to the college and to his team mates was sufficient cause for his playing under the trying circumstances. His being in his position of right half will materially increase the Tigers' chances of victory, and his sacrifice is greatly appreciated in college circles.

BRUSSE,
Quarterback of the Preachers.

Practice last evening was far more satisfactory than it has been at any time since the Mines game, but still the coaches are not entirely satisfied with the work of the men.

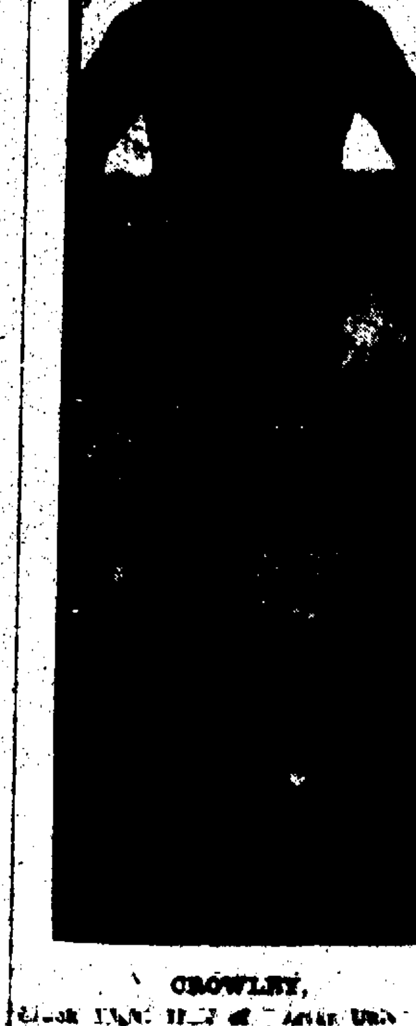

HUTZELL,
Denver's Star Right End.

Speaking of the Tigers' chances for victory after the short scrimmage last night, Coach Richards said: "With Whittaker back in the game I can see victory ahead, provided the men develop the same fighting spirit that characterized their play just before and during the Mines game. It has been hard work to hold the team up to the proper pitch for the 12 days intervening between games, but I believe that they have the proper fighting spirit, and will go into the coming contest with a determination that will land us the victory."

Will Play for Last Time.

Court, Morris and Morgan, three men who have played their allotted four years for the Orange and Black, will put on their football suits for the last time tomorrow. Each has been a tower of strength in his position, and each will enter his last game determined to finish his football career with victory. Football dopesters from all over the state will be present to watch the work of these three men, as well as several others of the Tiger squad who are rated as all-state material. The battle between "Tub" Morris and Schraeder for all-state fullback will be especially keen. Each man has outclassed his opponent in the games thus far played, and tomorrow's game will decide to whom the honor goes.

CROWLEY,
Check [illegible] of [illegible]

Post-Season Idea Popular.

The possibilities of a post season game, to be played in Denver, provided the Tigers are victorious, is arousing much comment. This would undoubtedly prove very popular with the football fans from both cities concerned. Coach Richards and Manager Lennox have already signified their willingness to play such a game, and no doubt the proposition will be equally popular at the other end of the line.

COACH KOEHLER,
Of the Denver University Squad.

McBride Engaged.

McBride of Kansas City, a former member of the Chicago university football team, has finally been secured to referee the big game, and will arrive here tonight or tomorrow morning, in company with Dr. John Outland, also of Kansas City, who is to umpire. These men are recognized as among the most capable officials in the west.

The Denver team, contrary to custom, will not arrive here tonight, but will come down from the capital city tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The players and many of the rooters will stay at the Acacia hotel while in this city. One hundred Denver university students have made arrangements to have a special Thanksgiving dinner at the hotel tomorrow at noon, although the members of the team will not be allowed to participate.

Naphtha Loosens The Dirt.

Soap cleans. That is how P. & G. Naphtha Soap does its work.

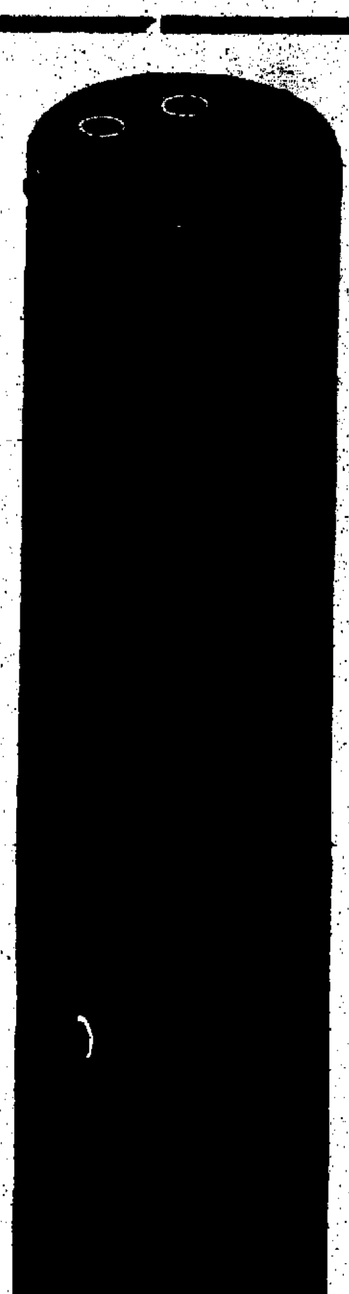

The naphtha in it, by loosening the dirt, makes it easy for the soap to do the work it is intended to do cleanse.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap would clean just as thoroughly as it does, if it contained no naphtha at all; but it would take more time and more work.

Naphtha and good soap make an ideal combination a combination that does away with half the work and practically all the discomfort of wash day; and makes it possible for a woman to do as much work in 4 or 5 hours as now takes twice that long.

Boiling of clothes, with all its attendant annoyances, is a thing of the past with women who use P. & G. Naphtha Soap. So is nine-tenths of the hard work over the washboard.

TIGER TEAM TO SEE PLAY

Members of College Squad Will Be Guests of Nye if They Win the Game.

Manager S. N. Nye of the Opera House has extended an invitation to the members of the football squad of the Colorado College to attend the performance of the musical comedy, "The Isle of Spice" at the Opera House Saturday evening, on condition the Tigers win the game with Denver university tomorrow afternoon. As there is no attraction at the Opera House tomorrow evening, Mr. Nye decided to invite the boys to "The Isle of Spice" Saturday, when boxes will be reserved for them, and will be decorated in college colors in honor of the victory.

In case the Tigers win the game, it is probable that a large crowd of college students will attend the performance Saturday night to help celebrate the victory with the boys. Manager Nye is a great football enthusiast, and takes this means of showing his interest in the championship of the state.

BIG SHOOT HERE TOMORROW

Feature Will Be Contest for Spaulding Medal Now Held by J. W. Garrett of This City.

The crack shots of Colorado will participate in the Thanksgiving shoot, to be given by the Colorado Springs Gun club at Broadmoor range tomorrow afternoon. The feature of the program will be the contest for the Spaulding medal for the championship of the state, now held by J. W. Garrett of this city. This event will consist of 100 targets, shot in strings of 25. Besides the trophy there will be five 20-bird amateur sweepstakes events. The high amateur in the regular events will be presented with a handsome piece of Van Briggle pottery.

The shooting will begin promptly at 1:15 o'clock. The visiting shooters will be guests of the Colorado Springs Gun club for luncheon at the Alamo hotel.

GOLF AT TOWN AND GOWN

Handicap Tournament Will Be in Progress All Day.

Golf will be played all day tomorrow on the grounds of the Town and Gown Golf club, the order of the day being a handicap against bogey. Members may choose their own time for play. The handicap list will be fixed today by the referee.

WORKINGMEN'S CLUB WILL BE CLOSED UP

have also been sworn out, but neither of these men has been located by the police and both are said to be out of the city.

It is expected that a bitter legal battle will be fought in the courts, as the club has been a big money maker and the parties who have been reaping the profits are said to be financially able to carry the case to the highest court. In the meantime, the club is operating as usual and will not be closed until a decree to that effect is issued by the court. The club is operating under the regular charter issued by the state and can be put out of business on conviction of having violated the ordinances regulating the sale of liquor in this city.

Place a Public Nuisance.

The matter of having the members of the organization brought into court and of suppressing the club has been before the police committee of the City Council for several months and numerous taken have been made to the committee by Chief Reynolds, but the difficulty of securing evidence has been serious and without warrants the police were powerless to act. Though the place has been recognized as a public nuisance ever since it was established and though, according to Chief Reynolds, a large proportion of the city's "drunks" have hailed from that source, yet so adroitly has the organization been operated and so carefully have its doors been guarded that no tangible evidence could be secured until that obtained by Holliman was placed in the hands of the authorities.

It is shown, however, that the matter has been carefully considered by the police committee and the City Council in executive session and that the members are determined to push the prosecution of the present case until the club has been put out of business.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous [illegible]), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections it is often successful in affecting cures.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases [illegible] [illegible] peculiar to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine. For weak worn-out, over-worked women no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulae of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CUMMINS WILL SUCCEED ALLISON

GOVERNOR OF IOWA GOES TO UNITED STATES SENATE.

Pledges Himself and His Efforts for Immediate Revision of the Tariff Laws.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 24.—Governor A. B. Cummins was today elected to succeed the late William B. Allison in the United States Senate by the Iowa legislature, the vote standing: Cummins, 106; Porter (Democratic), 35. Three Republicans did not vote.

Senator Cummins thanked both the Republican and Democratic members of the legislature for their support in his speech of acceptance, which was largely a plea for harmony and for an eradication of factional differences in Iowa.

Speaking of his attitude on the tariff he pledged himself and his efforts for immediate revision. He declared himself unalterably opposed to discrimination in the matter of freight rates, and condemned stock watering and other abuses of corporations.

Speaking of his position relative to a revision of the tariff, Senator Cummins said:

As you all know, I am in political faith a Republican. I believe in the essential principles of that party, and I shall do my utmost to carry them into effect, for thus, and thus only, as I view my duty, can I promote the welfare of all the people. I beg to illustrate my meaning. I am deeply convinced of the justice and the wisdom of the economic system which imposes protective duties upon imports and with my voice and vote in the Senate of the United States I shall do everything in my power to preserve it. To me this establishment [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] duties [illegible] products high enough to fully protect the American producer in his home market against the unfair rivalry of other countries, but upon the other hand, low enough to insure to the American consumer a fair American price. I am in absolute harmony with the definition announced in the most recent national Republican platform."

BIG DIVIDEND IS DECLARED

Utah Copper Company to Pay $367,500 to Stockholders on December 31.

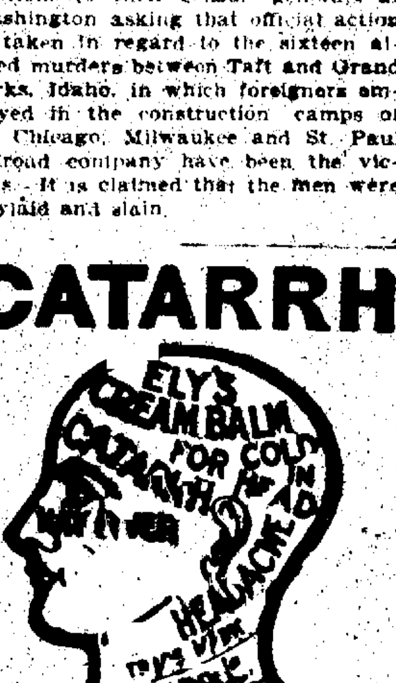

At a meeting of the directors of the Utah Copper company in New York yesterday the second quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable on December 31 to stockholders of record of December 18, was declared. The total amount of the dividend is $367,500.

The meeting was attended by President C. M. MacNeill of this city. Among other Colorado Springs men heavily interested in the company are C. L. Tutt and Spencer Penrose.

The first dividend of the company was paid on September 30.

TAFT, Mont., Nov. 24.—Foreign residents of this section have forwarded petitions to their consul generals at Washington asking that official action be taken in regard to the sixteen alleged murders between Taft and Grand Forks, Idaho, in which foreigners employed in the construction camps of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad company have been the victims. It is claimed that the men were waylaid and slain.

POVERTY AND CRIME CURED

ranges that the Charity Organization society give her a weekly pension of enough money to make up the deficit.

By Private Subscriptions.

This money is raised, as is all money disbursed by the society, by private subscription, and is used for her until circumstances come better or until her children are of legal working age.

"Why not place the children in some good institution and give the mother a better chance?" ask the hypercritical outsider. Because one of the cardinal principles of the work is to keep the home intact; having her children with her is an inspiration. If the mother should be ill, however, perhaps with tuberculosis, then in justice to herself and children she is removed to a hospital, while the children are placed in institutions away from contagion.

The promotion of individual efficiency, the encouragement of self help, the awakening of ambition and self-confidence, are the salient points that are developed in every instance of the society's intercourse with an applicant for help, yet in no case does it withhold immediate material or moral help from the petitioner. It does not ask "worthy or unworthy?" but "needy or not needy?" All outdoor relief for the city of New York, with a few specified exceptions, is now in the hands of organized private charity.

Record of Work

Carefully indexed filing cabinets contain the cases that have come under the society's supervision in the 25 years of its existence. These are approximately 100,000. To avoid the overlapping of work, the Society for the Improvement of the Condition of the Poor, the United Hebrew Charities, other private charities and the city authorities have access to this registration bureau.

The Charity Organization society of New York came into existence as a clearing house for the city's widely diversified charity work. It came in answer to the need of a "center of intercommunication between the various churches and charitable agencies in the city." Its specified objects are: To investigate all cases referred to it and share its knowledge with any inquirer having a legitimate interest; to obtain suitable and adequate relief for deserving cases and to procure work for them, to suppress mendicancy, and, what is considered the best clause in the constitution, "to promote the general welfare of the poor by social and sanitary reforms and by the inculcation of habits of providence and self-dependence."

Outdoor Relief Work.

When the New York State Board of Charities met in 1881, a special report was made on outdoor relief work for New York city by Josephine Shaw Lowell, and it was clearly shown that there was great waste of effort, energy and money, because there was no co-operation among the societies dispensing charity. The Charity Organization society was the only logical solution to so big a question. Its laws are firm, but happily elastic, as they can meet the needs of the 12,000 or more cases that come up each year.

The government of the society is administered by a central council, a president, a vice president and treasurer, elected from the membership of the council and all serving without pay. The general secretary is considered its real executive officer. The work of the council is distributed among standing committees, large or small, as the work demands.

The primary object of the society, that of relieving distress by immediate help, is exemplified in the registration bureau, the reception bureau and the bureau of advice and information. The value of the registration system, by which it is hoped to some day have a complete record of all outdoor relief in New York, can be seen by a glance at the last annual report. Inquiries about cases came from 333 organizations of various kinds and from 890 individuals, all willing to help those not in need. Inquiries came from 69 New York churches, 11 missions, two sisterhoods, 48 hospitals and dispensaries, nine day nurseries, 49 homes, eight settlements, 13 schools and from courts, newspapers, police precincts, employment bureaus and state reformatories.

The reception bureau records each day about 11 interviews and many letters. There are people asking for work, and people seeking workers, such as clerks, stenographers, servants or settlement workers. There are people bringing donations of clothes and money, and people asking for these in the name of charity. There are employers asking about tuberculosis camps where faithful employes may be placed, others asking for homes for cripples, for working girls, or for aged women and there are people asking in person for admission to such places. There are social workers from organizations in this and other countries, asking a comparison of methods and ideas for furthering the great uplift throughout the world. There are individual cases that ask not material aid, but friendly advice and direction. One of the greatest works of the society has been to put out of business the spurious collectors soliciting for charities that did not exist.

Joint Application Bureau.

With the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, this society maintains a joint application bureau, and about 50 calls a day were received the past year. Of the 4,800 that came to the bureau for advice, three-fourths were homeless. The majority were men between the ages of 20 and 40, newcomers looking for work. Few were immigrants and few had lived long in New York. For such as these temporary relief was always given at once. The woodyard offers work in exchange for temporary lodging and wholesome food that builds up where poor food and irregular eating had torn down. Some are sent to hospitals and some given transportation money to reach home or to get to promised work. Others are sent to the municipal lodging houses which, in the great uplift movement of the quarter century, have taken the place of the old police station lodgings.

Interesting Bureau.

Perhaps the most interesting bureau of all in the organization's work is the "handicap bureau." Here are classified those who are handicapped in the big race for existence by age, poor health, defective sight or the loss of an arm or leg. And, strange as it may seem, work can be usually found for them by the sunny-faced woman in charge. Old men are sent as "handy men" into many homes, where they prove useful pottering around; old women go for light domestic service, and even the deaf mute who is an artist at filling in on the wall paper designs, will eventually be placed. All these will command the small wages which go with unskilled service, but they will maintain their personal independence—a thing for which the society is ever helping people strive.

The incompetency of the unskilled is a great problem for the society to meet. It teaches women to work in its laundries and later gets outside work for them. It teaches them to sew, and later places them as seamstresses. They are paid a living wage while they are learning.

In the war for health the Charity Organization society is a host in itself. The tenement house committee, now studying New York's 100,000 tenement houses, has been in the ten years of its existence the enforcement of laws protecting the health and safety of tenement dwellers; has watched closely any new legislation that will affect the tenement question; has studied housing problems in this and other cities and in foreign countries, and has conducted an education campaign for better tenement conditions. It also maintains a district dispensary system.

Has Witnessed Great Uplift.

In the quarter century of its existence the society has witnessed a great uplift in the city of New York and has been a prime factor in promoting the change. In 1882 it found almshouses and orphan asylums the principle relief agencies in the state where old and young, deaf and blind, feeble-minded, insane and epileptic were housed together, with no provision made for the care of the sick or the prevention of contagious disease. Today it sees the almshouse used as a home for the friendless, aged and the infirm; the defectives placed in specialized institutions; the insane cared for in a more humane fashion; the administration of public charities divorced from correction in New York city, and women and children protected in factory work. It has seen medical attention and nursing carried to the poor in their own homes, dependent children provided for, dependent families helped toward independence, and a great general improvement in the environment of the poor. It has seen penny provident funds established, playgrounds, parks and recreation centers opened, and through its weekly magazine it has sent out to the world the record of its great uplift.

FOR PIMPLES, TOO

New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eradicates Minor Skin Troubles Overnight.

A few months ago the dispensers of poslam, the new discovery for the cure of eczema, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it. Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laboratories.

Since this change in the method of distribution, poslam has met with the most phenomenal success of anything introduced to the drug trade in the last 30 years. All leading druggists, including the Robinson Drug Co. and the Owl Drug Company, Colorado Springs, are now carrying the special 50-cent size recently adopted, also the $2 jar.

This great success is not surprising when it is remembered that, in eczema cases, poslam stops the itching with first application, proceeds to heal immediately, and cures chronic cases in a few weeks. In minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, herpes, blotches, rash, etc., results show after an overnight application. Experimental samples of poslam are sent to anyone by mail free of charge, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City.

NO NEED TO "FRET" ABOUT SPEAKERSHIP

CANNON TALKS OF HOUSE AND THE TARIFF.

Arrives in Washington for Special Session of Congress—In Favor of Revision.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Declaring that there would be an honest revision of the tariff and that there is no present need of "fretting" about the election of speaker for the public in the Sixty-first Congress, Speaker Cannon arrived here from his home in Illinois late today for the approaching session of Congress. He added to the newspaper men who greeted him that he believed that the people would get the sort of tariff revision that they voted for.

Later he issued a statement in which he declared he was not attempting to dictate to the House and that through the system of elections of members the people were certain of having their views enacted into law. Citing an example of hasty action leading to a misinterpretation of public sentiment in regard to a tariff bill, he expressed an opinion that there would be no mistake made next summer in the revision of the tariff.

No Use to Worry.

The text of Speaker Cannon's statement follows:

"The election of the speaker for the Sixty-first Congress is yet a considerable distance in the future. When that Congress is able to assemble—which I presume will be some time in March—the Republican members of the House of Representatives will hold a caucus, as has been the custom from the foundation of the party and select a candidate for speaker to be supported by the party at the organization of the House. I presume that the representatives will be perfectly competent to select their speaker, and I do not see any present need for fretting about the matter.

"Of course, there will be an honest revision of the tariff. We made the campaign on that issue, and every Republican member was elected with that in view. Every one of these Republicans, without an exception, will, I believe, strive to the best of his intelligence and ability to attain the tariff results desired by the people who elected him. All will not have the same views, and each one cannot have his own way altogether. There must be mutual concession and comprise, out of which will come the result which, on the whole, is most acceptable or least objectionable to all. That is according to civilized and enlightened government. It is the barbarian who expects to have everything his own way without regard to his neighbor. Whoever is elected speaker of the next House must so perform his functions as to assist the House in arriving at the result which will best represent the views of the responsible party in the House, striving to carry out the will of the people who elected him.

Mistakes Sometimes Made.

"Mistakes have sometimes been made, as in the case of the Wilson bill enacted by the Democratic Congress, but I believe that the representatives in the House earnestly tried to do what they thought the people wanted.

"The Republicans made no mistake when they enacted the Dingley law as the long life—as the lives of tariff laws go—of that law shows. I believe they will make no mistake in the bill which they will enact next summer with the concurrence of the Senate and the President.

"There is one thing which you may be sure. Those representatives will do their very best to perform what the people want, for they must go before the people in 1910 and acount for their acts. The senator accounts for himself once in six years; the President once in four years, but the representative accounts once in two years. The speaker of the House has a double accounting, to his constituents in his own district and to his associates in the House who elect him. No representative and especially no speaker, will fail to do everything within his power to carry out the well-considered, constitutionally-expressed wish of the majority of the people."

Not Will You Investigate? But Will You Investigate in Time?

The Knight-Campbell sale goes on, and many are choosing the piano for their home, from among these exceptionally fine and most unusually low-priced instruments.

The Event Is a Golden Opportunity for Piano Buyers

The buyers so far have been conservative business men, and musical people, the opportunity of buying a high-grade piano at such low prices as quoted appealing with greatest force to people who know.

Monday at the big Knight-Campbell sale proved to be the greatest day ever experienced at the local house, and Tuesday followed hard with a splendid volume of business. The purchases have been made by people who have made a study of business and good business opportunities, and their judgment should feature in giving confidence to others who need a piano and have been waiting for an unusual bargain.

A MUSICAL QUESTION.

The pianos offered are not cheap boxes thrown together to sell, and with no thought of the reputation they would make for the house handling them, but they are pianos which have received every attention from expert piano builders, and have been sent out with the expectation that they would win other friends and customers for the houses. They are instruments which the Knight-Campbell Music Co. is glad to tie to, and upon the reputation and good service, of which the future of the concern depends, and upon which the past and present of the largest music concerns in the country have been built.

THE PIANOS OFFERED.

Chief among the instruments offered in this sale has been the Everett—the piano used by Reisenhauer, Carreno, and any number of other noted pianists, and held in a place of honor by every one.

The Fischer has been represented in the sale by three splendid instruments. One of these only is left, and it will be chosen by some lucky home builder before many days have gone.

The Hallet & Davis has been represented by two of the finest toned pianos ever sent from that great factory in Boston, one a walnut with a beautifully carved front panel—not obtrusive, but artistic all through. The other, a perfectly plain mahogany—not a bit of carving and a very near approach to the most recent designs.

Kurtzmann, a piano known and respected for sixty years. Fifty instruments of this make have been in use in the city schools of Buffalo for years, and conservatories and convents and music teachers are using them the world over. One of these pianos which we are offering is a splendid mahogany of the richest shade and in tonal quality is the match of any piano.

Lawson—a make which in the few years of its manufacture has made ground faster, and has reached a higher point of excellence, than has been the lot of more than a half dozen makes in America.

In case design they represent the first stage in the change toward perfect severe plainness, and appeal to all as most chaste and symmetrical in every detail, and in evenness of scale and quality of tone these instruments are remarkable.

These are some of the pianos we offer. They are pianos which sell everywhere for $400 to $550, and in this sale they go for $232, $218, $227, $245, $268, etc., etc.

It is certainly a chance which should appeal to you, if you value good pianos and appreciate piano prices which are unique for their lowness.

SECOND-HAND PIANOS.

At all times we have on hand a line of pianos which have been used, and we have on hand at present, several which have been used for from a few months to three years or more.

These go at very low prices, along with other pianos, and as every one of them is in good condition, and in as good tone as ever, they make an exceptional appeal to anyone who does not want to put over $100 or $150 into a piano at this time. Should you buy one of these and later on wish to trade it in on a higher grade piano, or a new one, we will allow the amount paid on it to apply on the purchase price of the new at any time within two years. Our reason for placing this limit on the trade is this: Two years does not very greatly depreciate the selling value of a second-hand piano, and yet this amount of time is all that can reasonably be given, if right prices are to be asked on the new instrument.

PIANO PLAYERS.

The demand for the outside player has decreased very greatly within the past two years, and in our exchanges with those of our customers who have desired to exchange their player and piano on a Cecilian piano, or Hardman Autotone or A. B. Chase Artist, and we have received several very good piano players.

TWO SIMPLEX PLAYERS—$65 and $100.

Two of these are Simplex players, which are both in splendid condition, and as useful as ever. One in ebonized case, will go to someone who has an old piano that needs to be wakened into life. The other in Walnut, will be taken by someone and will add to the pleasure taken in the piano by a hundred fold.

ONE APOLLO PLAYER $47.

One player is an Apollo, which is as good as new and which has been used very little, in fact. With this go several rolls of choice music.

SIMPLEX MUSIC.

At present we are ordering no new Simplex rolls, but we have on hand several hundred rolls of Simplex Music which we are selling at 25c per roll. This music can be adjusted for use on any of the newer type piano players or player pianos, and an opportunity is given to owners of the player which ranks with the chance given to those who have no piano or player.

ORGANS GIVEN AWAY.

When we charge you only $3 or $4 for an organ, we are virtually giving that organ away, for the expense of putting the organ in good condition is more than that, but when we say give organs away, we mean to give them free, and that is just what we will do. Any child can get one without spending one of those hoarded pennies. Come and see how easy it is.

BUY NOW AND BEGIN TO SAVE.

Many of our customers tell us that the experience of buying a piano on small payments was the most valuable experience in saving money of their lives. They learned that they could save if they had an object ahead, and when the piano was paid for they applied the same principle in paying for other things, with the result that they have gone ahead ever since.

DO IT NOW! BUY THAT PIANO NOW, WHILE YOU HAVE THE CHANCE OF YOUR LIFE. AT THE RATE AT WHICH PIANOS ARE NOW GOING, ALL OF THE SALE PIANOS SHOULD BE GONE BY SATURDAY NIGHT.

MISSIONARY'S WIFE PRAISES CUTICURA

Daughter's Head Encrusted with Dandruff—Feared she Would Lose her Hair. Many Treatments were Futile. Baby had Milk-Crust.

BOTH CHILDREN CURED BY FAMOUS REMEDIES

"For several years my husband was a missionary in the Southwest, and we were living on the edge of the desert at an elevation of nearly five thousand feet. Every one in that high and dry atmosphere has more or less trouble with dandruff and my daughter's scalp became so encrusted with it that I was alarmed for fear she would lose all her hair, which was very heavy. After spending between five and six dollars for various remedies, in desperation I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. After rubbing the Cuticura Ointment thoroughly into the roots of the hair, I gently combed the crust of dandruff free from the scalp, and then gave her head a thorough shampoo with the Cuticura Soap. This left the scalp beautifully clean and free from dandruff, and after the hair was dry I again rubbed the Cuticura Ointment, this time sparingly, into the roots, and I am happy to say that the Cuticura Remedies were a complete success. My trouble with dandruff was over, although for a long time afterward I used the Cuticura Ointment as at first, after shampooing, which kept the scalp and roots of the hair moist. I have used successfully the Cuticura Remedies for so-called "milk-crust" on baby's head, and have seen found anything to equal them. You are at liberty to publish this letter, for I do [illegible] believe that the Cuticura Remedies are a blessing to mankind. Mrs. J. A. Darling, 310 Fifth St., C[illegible], Ohio, Jan. 20, 1908."

Cuticura Ointment is one of the most successful curatives for torturing, [illegible]ing humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, ever compounded, in proof of which a [illegible] anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed, when necessary, by a mild dose of Cuticura Resolvent (liquid or pills) is often sufficient to afford immediate relief of itching, burning and scaly humors, [illegible] irritations and inflammations, [illegible] and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when all else fails.

— HAWKINS, woman, near McNell.

— BESHAN, wife and eight children, near Watalulu.

Fatally injured:

John Rossin, near Ozark.

Mrs. L. A. Hill, near Watalulu.

— Jackson, farmer, near Van Buren.

$1,600,000 FOR EQUIPMENT

Rock Island Decides to Expend Big Sum on Improvements.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—An expenditure of $1,600,000 for new equipment and power was decided upon by the board of directors and management of the Rock Island system today. The order will comprise 35 locomotives and 70 all-steel passenger cars. In connection with the order, President B. L. Winchell stated that the company has adopted all steel construction for nearly all its cars, including baggage and mail and day coaches. The railroad officials declare their belief that the railroad business would continue to increase rapidly.

Is $100.00 Worth Saving?

The purchase of a good piano or player piano to the average buyer is quite a task; both quality and price must be considered, as the real piano bargain consists of the best piano for the least money.

There is but one house in Colorado that manufactures and sells their product direct to their customers—THE HOUSE OF BALDWIN. Their tremendous volume of business enables them to manufacture a piano or player piano and deliver it to you for $100 less than you will be asked by other firms for a piano of the same quality, and there is nothing added to the price if you buy on time.

Baldwin made pianos are today the recognized standard of the world. For the holiday trade we are now showing new and original art case designs in all the choice woods. Guarantee unlimited and unconditional. Call or write for price and terms. THE BALDWIN COMPANY. Established 1862. Capital $1,500,000. Five factories, 5 separate makes. Manufacturing more pianos each month than would supply the trade of Colorado for one year.

WHITTAKER FUNERAL TODAY

Remains of Prominent Railroad Man to Be Buried at Evergreen Cemetery This Morning.

The remains of W. C. Whittaker, a former prominent railroad man of this city, and father of Chester Whittaker, left halfback on the Colorado College football team, will arrive this morning at 10:30 o'clock from Salida and be placed in a vault at Evergreen cemetery. The pallbearers will be heads of departments in the Midland and Short Line shops.

Mr. Whittaker died of heart failure at Salida Monday. Funeral services were held there yesterday afternoon.

For four years W. C. Whittaker was foreman of the Midland shops at Colorado City. He was one of the best known railroad men in the state. A short time ago he took the position of master mechanic of the Denver & Rio Grande shops at Salida.

Members of the college football team and of the freshman class, of which Chester Whittaker is president, will present floral offerings at the interment.

TO START NEW TOWN

Springs Men Boosting Eastern Section of Colorado.

Efforts looking to the establishment of a new town on the Rock Island railway midway between Ramah and Mattison, culminated yesterday in the filing of papers of incorporation with the secretary of state of the Simla Townsite company composed of A. Fehringer, president; W. C. Robinson, vice president, and A. L. Patton, secretary. The proposed town will be 55 miles east of this city and a siding has already been installed by the railway company to accommodate the new company.

CHARGED WITH STEALING COW

Marry Brown and Guy Parker Arrested on Complaint of David Hall, Ranchman.

Charged with the theft of a cow from David Hall, a ranchman living seven miles south of this city, Marry Brown and Guy Parker were arrested yesterday in this city by Deputy Sheriff John Scofield. According to the complaint, Brown and Parker took the animal from a ranch near Lytle, where it was at pasture, butchered it and brought the meat and hide to Colorado Springs for sale. The hide came under the inspection of State Brand Inspector Barryman, who recognized Hall's brand, and, after learning that the latter had not sold any animals for market, started an investigation that led to the arrest of Brown and Parker. Both are young men who have worked for stockmen of this county for years as cowboys, and this is the second time that Brown has been in the clutches of the law on charges of cattle stealing. He was acquitted in the district court along with J. Y. Curr several months ago, after a lengthy trial on the charge of stealing a valuable animal owned by John DeWitt.

Brown and Parker were brought before Justice W. N. Ruby yesterday and had their preliminary hearing set for Friday. They are in the county jail awaiting a hearing.

ANOTHER SERIOUS CHARGE

Charles Falls Is Alleged to Have Performed Criminal Operation on Chloe Springer.

In addition to the statutory charge brought against him at the time of his arrest last week, Charles Falls of Eastonville, will have to answer to the charge of having performed a criminal operation, brought against him yesterday by Mrs. Anna Springer of Eastonville, mother of Chloe Springer, the 17-year-old girl who was the subject of the alleged assault by Falls said to have been committed last September.

The information charging him with the criminal operation was filed by the mother of the girl before Justice W. N. Ruby yesterday. The alleged act is said to have been committed on November 14 shortly before the arrest of Falls.

The defendant waived examination and was bound over to the district court under a bond of $1,500 which is added to the bond of $2,000 under which he was placed on the previous charge, makes a total of $3,500.

That Falls has had a bad record in the past is alleged by Mrs. Springer, who produced newspaper clippings from Pennsylvania papers to show that he was supposed to have committed suicide by drowning several years ago, but that, instead, he came to Colorado to escape arrest on a serious charge. The prisoner is said to have a wife living in Pennsylvania, but alleges that he has been legally divorced. For the last year Falls has been a bookkeeper for a dairy company at Eastonville and boarded at Mrs. Springer's place.

St. Paul's M. E. Sunday school will give a pumpkin pie social Thanksgiving evening at the church, 425 S. Nevada avenue, beginning at 7:30. Special decorations in the way of vegetables will be a special feature. The vegetables will be given to the Deaconess hospital. A good short program will be rendered. A jolly social time will follow and pumpkin pie will be the main feature of refreshments. A cordial invitation is extended to friends and strangers.

EDWARD MAHER DIES.

Funeral Will Be Held at 3:30 o'Clock This Afternoon.

Edward Maher, for the last two years a clerk at the Spaulding house, died Monday morning. Mr. Maher came to Colorado Springs about seven years ago from Brooklyn, N. Y., where he had been proofreader on the Eagle. His health improved for a while after his arrival, but later the disease renewed its attacks and overcame all the resistance that a strong will and cheerful disposition could make. Mr. Maher had many friends here who will regret the inevitable end, but they can cherish the memory of an association that was made pleasant by the many admirable qualities of the deceased.

The funeral will take place from the rooms of Hallett & Baker this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. His friends and the members of the Colorado Springs Typographical union No. 82 are invited to attend.

TO BEGIN WORK SOON

Crystal Park Improvements to Be Started in Near Future.

The building of a large hotel at Crystal park, near Manitou, and the spending of a large amount of money in improving the grounds are among the plans for developing the park proposed by the Crystal Park company, recently incorporated for $750,000. The work will be started immediately after the adjourned meeting of the stockholders, to be held Saturday, when the issuance of $150,000 in bonds and mortgages will be ratified. An automobile boulevard from Manitou to the park, a distance of four miles, will be constructed.

MAY REPEAT CANTATA—"The Song of Thanksgiving," Maunder's famous cantata, was presented last night at Grace church by Grace church choir before an audience that completely filled the auditorium. The production was a splendid artistic success and was appreciatively received. It probably will be repeated Thursday evening, December 3.

The Bakersfield naphtha works produced over 400,000 tons in June.

"BEN-HUR" MANAGER HERE

Brings Carpenters to Prepare Stage for Big Production Seats on Sale Friday.

Charles Towle, manager of Klaw and Erlanger's production of "Ben-Hur," which comes to the Opera House for three performances next Monday and Tuesday, was in the city yesterday to examine the local stage. There has been much doubt expressed as to whether "Ben-Hur," which is one of the biggest productions on tour, could be staged satisfactorily in this city, so Manager S. N. Nye of the Opera House had Mr. Towle and his stage carpenters, who were in Denver this week, where "Ben-Hur" is playing at the Broadway, come to this city to see if the stage could be fixed to permit the staging of the big play. Mr. Towle, after thoroughly examining the local stage, guaranteed Mr. Nye that he would give this city a production which will more than satisfy local theatergoers.

Mr. Towle left his stage force of six men in the city to rearrange the stage for Monday evening. A carload of scenery arrived here yesterday and this will be put up immediately. The balance comes from Denver Saturday evening, after the performance in that city. The company carries a duplicate set of the mechanism for the chariot race which has to be inserted in the stage in advance of the arrival of the company.

Seats for "Ben Hur" will be placed on sale this morning at the Opera House box office in the Opera House lobby.

NEW BUSINESS FIRM FORMED

C. T. Fertig, C. L. Tutt and C. L. Tutt, Jr., Form Partnership With Stock of $25,000.

A new business firm, under the name of the Fertig and Tutt insurance and investment company, has been organized in this city, with a capital stock of $25,000, and papers of incorporation will be filed immediately. The officers of the company will be: President, C. T. Fertig; vice president, C. L. Tutt, and secretary-treasurer, C. L. Tutt, Jr. These three, with M. T. Clifford and J. A. Hull, will form the board of directors. The office of the company will be at 28 North Tejon street, the present location of the office of C. T. Fertig, who has been engaged in the real estate and insurance business in this city for eight years.

Mr. Tutt is one of the best-known business men of the city, being the owner of the Opera House and Hagerman blocks and a large amount of other real estate.

FANNY RAWLINGS DIVIDEND

Company to Pay $5,000 on December 28—Stock Is Largely Held Here.

The directors of the Fanny Rawlings Mining company met yesterday in the office of Walter C. Frost, 6 North Nevada avenue, and declared a dividend of one-half cent a share on the capital stock. The dividend amounting to $5,000, is payable December 28 to stockholders of record December 18. The books of the company will be closed until December 29 for the transfer of stock.

The officers and directors of the company are: President, J. A. Himebaugh, Colorado Springs; vice president, Thomas S. Bingham, Colorado Springs; secretary and treasurer, Walter C. Frost, Colorado Springs; C. B. Ferrin, Benjamin F. Webster, Colorado Springs; Alvin Perrine, Colorado City and George A. Campion, Leadville.

The danger of hunting a gasoline leak with a lighted match was illustrated recently on Long Island, when John Brennon caused an explosion that literally blew his wife and sister out of the car. The ladies didn't appreciate the experiment and Brennon, after seeing his machine burn, agreed with them.

Mrs. Alex. Capehart Dies in Denver. Funeral Here.

In the death of Mrs. Alex. Capehart, which occurred in Denver on Monday, many of the pioneers of this city will recall associations of the early days, as the members of the family were well known in Colorado Springs 30 years ago. Mrs. Capehart was 69 years of age and is survived by her husband, who today will bring the body to this city for interment at Evergreen cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Capehart lived in Colorado Springs for about 10 years, but in 1888 moved to Denver, which has been their home ever since. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the undertaking rooms of Fairleys and Law.

FAIL TO WALK UP PEAK

Actors Encounter Severe Storm and Turn Back.

While they admit that walking ties is not entirely foreign to the theatrical profession, Charles Martin and William Pinkham of New York, members of Julia Herne's company that appeared at the Orpheum in Denver last week, overestimated their ability as pedestrians yesterday when they attempted the ascent of Pikes Peak. In a blinding snow storm along the slope of the Peak, they reached a point within a mile of the summit, when they found further progress impossible and were compelled to turn back. They say that the Cog road track is covered with snow and sleet to the depth of three to six inches. With other members of the company, Martin and Pinkham stopped over here yesterday on their way to Salt Lake.

Three-Legged Hens Will Be Seen at Poultry Show—Association Meets.

At a regular meeting of the Pikes Peak Poultry association last night plans for the annual poultry show December 14-19 were discussed. Virgil Coons announced that he would exhibit his newly patented brooder with which has won prises in Utah and various Colorado cities, and John W. Garrett will exhibit a collection of wild ducks and three-legged hens obtained near Grand Junction. Several thousand tickets for the show have been placed with the merchants of the city for sale. The premium list, which will be unusually attractive, will be ready next week.

"Man Is As Old As His Stomach"

This Persian Epigram Is the Real Gauge of a Man's Life.

The Persians were a very sagacious people, noted among other things, for their deep thinking on life and the things which make up life.

The above epigram shows the wisdom of their thought.

When a man's stomach is able to furnish new material to the system as fast or faster than the natural decay of man requires, then such a man lives his fullest and his best.

When through wrong living or disease a man's stomach begins to tax the other organs and takes from the blood strength which it cannot give back in nourishment taken from food, then begins the death of man and he decays fast. The stomach is strong, splendidly strong, and can stand an untold amount of abuse and neglect, but when it dies, man dies.

The stomach gives tone upon tons of good rich blood every year to the system and draws only 680 lbs. of nourishment for its own use. If, however, the food which it receives cannot be turned into blood which is capable of use by the body, then the stomach receives no help from the other organs.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the most perfect digestive qualities known to science and at the same time the most powerful. They will mix with the poisonous juices of a sick stomach and digest food in spite of this handicap.

They will stop gas making and bad breath. They tone up the nerves of the whole digestive canal, including those of the stomach.

A single ingredient contains strength enough to digest 2,000 times its weight in mixed food.

They have stood the test of time and today are more sought after than all their imitators combined.

They are used and endorsed by 40,000 physicians. Every druggist sells them, price 50c. It costs nothing to demonstrate their value. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

NEW TRIAL OPEN TOMORROW

Cheyenne Mountain Scenic Attraction Ready for Public Use Big Bonfire Tonight.

Along the precipitous slope of Cheyenne mountain disclosing scenes of wonderful grandeur, a new trail made since October 28 by Dr. A. F. McKay and one assistant, will be opened to the public tomorrow. With an eastern and southern exposure the trail is free from snow or frost. Starting from Sunrise cabin at the base of this mountain, the trail is 7,570 feet long, terminating at Sunshine Inn near the top. A big bonfire on the mountain tonight will signalize the opening of the trail.

time, for, despite the constitutional provision that tariff legislation must originate in the House, the Senate committee probably will have about agreed upon the form of a substitute bill by the time the House has passed its measure. The Senate committee's substitute could be tacked on to the enacting clause of the House bill, as an amendment and debate begun in the Senate within a few days.

It is when the Senate begins to debate the bill that time will be consumed, for the Senate has not yet reached the point of cloture. There are going to be very radical differences in the views of Republican senators, to say nothing of the fact that the Democrats will have ideas of their own and will be free to express them.

No one believes that a bill such as Senator Aldrich will report out of the finance committee, can command the support of senators like LaFollette of Wisconsin, Cummins of Iowa and Bristow of Kansas, and unless these senators are allowed to have their say, they will keep Congress in session until frost comes again.

Can't Blame It on Cannon.

In the end, however, the Senate will pass a bill very nearly conforming to the ideas of Aldrich and the other Republican Senate leaders. But what will the House do with such a measure when it gets back to the starting point? In the passage of such a measure, a good many Republican members of the House will be able to see nothing but their own political death warrants, and they are not going to be led astray tamely to the slaughter. They can't go back to their constituents and lay the blame on "Uncle Joe" Cannon and the House machine, for after the agitation of the campaign just closed, their constituents will demand to know why the machine was not smashed.

Interviews given out by some of the Senate and House leaders do not indicate that they are willing to concede such a readjustment of the schedules as the country expects. If these interviews are indicative of the measure for which members will be asked to cast their final votes, there will be one of the biggest rows Congress ever knew, and it may require as much time to get the measure ready for the President's signature as it did to pass it originally through the House and Senate. The next tariff bill is much more likely to be known in history as the act of July 30 than it is as the act of May 30.

Taft's Influence.

There will be a good deal of curiosity to learn just how much President Taft will influence Congress in its deliberations on the tariff. In his message, of course, he will strongly urge a genuine revision of the schedules, but whether he will attempt to go farther than this remains to be seen. Judging by the tenor of the interviews he has been holding with party leaders at Hot Springs, he would not hesitate to take hold of things with a vigorous hand, if he believed there was danger that the platform pledges would not be kept.

There always is a great deal the man in the White House can do toward shaping legislation without violating any of the proprieties or improperly intruding on the legislative sphere. There always are plenty of members of his party who will seek his advice, and those who do not seek it can be sent for on some pretext or another. It is not at all likely that Congress will pass such a tariff bill that Mr. Taft, like Grover Cleveland, will find himself unable to approve it; but should a situation of sufficient seriousness arise, intimation that performance had to square with promise to escape a presidential veto, no doubt would have a salutary effect.

Doing their best on the tariff bill, members of Congress are going to be lucky to get four months' rest before the convening of the first regular session of the Sixty-first Congress in December of next year. That being the regular long session, it is expected to run into June. If the Aldrich currency commission makes its report and an attempt is made to pass a general currency bill, the session probably will last all summer.

STOP DRINKING!

It was formerly customary for the habitual drinker to take the pledge regularly, sometimes once a year, and sometimes in every fit of remorse that followed his debauches, and then—break it.

But now it is gradually dawning on the world that pledges do not stop drunkenness. When a man takes a pledge voluntarily, he expects to keep it. Every man expects to keep his word and every broken pledge costs the drunkard many a heartache. But he cannot help it. He fights as long as he can, then succumbs to the craving. The nervous system of the habitual drinker is diseased and he must have treatment that will cure this condition.

Orrine is sold under a positive guarantee to cure the drink habit or the money will be refunded. No other treatment for the liquor habit is sold under such a liberal guarantee.

Orrine is prepared in two forms: No. 1, a powder, perfectly tasteless and colorless, which can be given secretly in any food or drink. Orrine No. 2 is in pill form, for those who wish to be cured of the habit, and it should be taken by every one who swears off.

No matter which form of Orrine is used, the guarantee is the same. The price of Orrine is $1.00 per box, mailed in plain sealed wrapper upon receipt of price. Write for free booklet on "How to Cure Drunkenness," mailed in plain sealed envelope. The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C. Orrine is sold by Geo. D. T. Butcher Drug Co., 134 E. Pikes Peak Ave.

Religious Connections of Various Presidents of the United States

WILLIAM H. TAFT AND THE UNITARIAN CHURCH AT WASHINGTON, D. C., WHICH HE REGULARLY ATTENDS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. The recent open letter of President Roosevelt, in which he so strongly defends religious freedom in the presidential chair of the United States, has attracted national interest.

In this connection it is interesting to note the religions of past incumbents. Of the 25 men who have held the distinguished office up to President Taft, all have preferred sectarian beliefs, but two. Those, Jefferson and Andrew Johnson, while Christians, never allied themselves with any sect. Among the others, eight were Episcopalians, six Presbyterians, three Methodists, two Dutch Reform, two Congregationalists, one Unitarian and one Disciple. Taft, with his Unitarian belief, will be the second of that faith in the office. Millard Fillmore, the thirteenth President, was the first, and it would seem that every thirteenth President is a Unitarian. It is quite well supposed that President Roosevelt is the first one of the Reformed Dutch belief to preside over the nation, but history shows that Martin Van Buren was also of that faith.

SHE BALKED AT BEST MAN.

From the New York American.

Some brides have balked at the altar because of the extreme youth or tottering infirmity of the prospective groom; but who ever heard of a wedding called off because of the old age of the groomsman?

That is what has happened in Newark, and while the weeping maid has returned to her parents, her prospective husband has steamed away aboard a United States armored cruiser to forget his woes on foreign seas.

The participants in this unique affair are Miss Amelia Wright, aged 21, a pretty young woman, who lives with her parents at McWhorter and Chestnut streets; Thomas Cunningham, 25, a man-of-wars-man aboard the U. S. S. Dubuque, now bound for the Caribbean, and Charles P. Phillips, more than 50, and proprietor of the Rock Island hotel at Walnut street and New Jersey avenue, Newark. News of the strange ending of the wedding, to which a company of guests had been invited, has just leaked out.

The ceremony was fixed for last Wednesday, and Cunningham, who was stationed at the time at the Brooklyn navy yard, had secured leave of absence for the happy event. Everything was arranged and the minister had been summoned. When the bride appeared, she was told that Mr. Phillips would officiate as best man. Instantly she balked, declaring that he was too old to officiate in such a capacity. No amount of argument would swerve the young woman's determination, and reluctantly Cunningham was forced to call off the wedding.

Can you tell WHO would occupy the White House if Mr. Taft should die before inauguration?

Can you tell who would occupy the White House in case William H. Taft President-elect, should die prior to March 4, the day set for the inauguration of a new administration?

If Mr. Taft should die—which catastrophe may in all wise Providence prevent—who would become President of the United States on the 4th day of March? ernment with the problem of personality entirely removed.

The most superficial study of the constitution of the United States and constitutional customs demonstrates the rather startling fact that there is absolutely no provision in American law against such a possibility. The issue is fairly entitled to be raised, therefore, in justice to the system of American gov-

LAWS ON USE OF WATER IN U. S.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION IS COMPILING VOLUME.

Work Done Along This Line Is Extremely Thorough—Will Be of Immense Practical Value.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. The National Conservation commission is compiling for publication in a single volume all the laws and court decisions, both state and federal, which relate to the use of water in the United States. This manual will be of immense practical value and it is somewhat remarkable, considering the wide number of interests which are touched by these laws, that no such compilation has been made before this. With the constantly growing demand for interstate waterways, the increasing utilization of water power for the development of electricity, and the widening areas of semiarid western plains that are being made arable through irrigation, these laws at the present time affect the interests of a wide variety of individuals and corporations, and in the immediate future the number whose business is directly touched will beyond doubt be greatly increased.

The work which the National Conservation commission is doing along this line is extremely thorough and the compilation will be complete. It will include all state and national statutes and all court decisions which concern water rights and kindred questions on both navigable and non-navigable streams and lakes. The citations will include all acts which relate to riparian rights, and public usufruct of water, and all statutes which concern mills, pollution of water, interference with navigation or the use of streams for power, damming of streams, diverting streamflow, and so on—in short, all acts which affect the use of waters and their private appropriation to power or other purposes. In the book will be included also some authoritative discussion of the principles involved in these laws.

The National Conservation commission in its endeavor to make the compilation absolutely complete and accurate, has called upon the governors of all the states for assistance and the replies in every instance have promised support. Considerably more than half the states have already appointed State Conservation commissions for the specific purpose of cooperating with the National commission in its work of gathering the material which will be embodied in the report to the President the first of the year. In other states the state officials whose work most nearly touches this project are at work.

A single volume containing all the laws which bear upon the use of waters in the various parts of the country, will be an exceedingly useful reference handbook. It holds possibilities of an even greater usefulness in that it will exhibit within limits that make ready comparison possible not only the general tendencies of the laws and decisions on this subject, but the discrepancies that exist between the regulations of different states.

The fear is frequently expressed that the tendency towards monopolization of water power, which has already made very great progress in some parts of the county, will result in practically all of this extremely valuable natural resource passing from the people as a whole into the hands of comparatively a few men, with resulting higher cost of water power and water-developed electricity to consumers and a tremendous advantage to the few possessors. If this danger is justified by the present laws, it is a matter of great importance to make this fact apparent at once. For this purpose nothing could be more effective than such a presentation of all the laws on the subject as that which the commission is preparing.

The government is experimenting in San Francisco bay with a buoy bearing three huge wings of corrugated iron sheeting, which echo the whistles of steam vessels. It is believed it will prove as effective in a fog as though the buoy itself furnished the noise.

IOWA'S NEW SENATOR.

BY the decisive vote of 106 to 35 the Iowa Legislature yesterday chose Governor A. B. Cummins as successor to the late Senator William B. Allison. The vote was on strict party lines, the 35 Democratic members standing solidly for their candidate, Claude Porter, but three Republicans did not vote.

This another radical, and a strong and uncompromising radical, is added to the growing list of men who will make things hum in the Senate and of the Capitol during the Taft Administration, and probably for a long time afterwards. The list certainly is growing formidable. Most of them are young men from the West. There is LaFollette of Wisconsin, Borah of Idaho, Beveridge of Indiana, Bristow of Kansas, and now Cummins of Iowa. There are others, but these will be the leaders, and they are aggressive enough to give Mr. Aldrich and the old guard a good many uncomfortable half hours.

Most of the Senatorial elections are yet to take place and in several of them radicals are pretty certain to secure the seats now filled by men of more conservative views. Platt of New York will step down and out on March 4, to be succeeded, probably, by Secretary Root. Mr. Root certainly cannot be classed as a radical but at any rate he will be a big improvement over the senile Platt. Neither can the progressive crowd look for encouragement to Colorado, where Senator Teller will be succeeded by Charles J. Hughes.

DEFEAT OF COLBY AND FOLK.

In two states the cause of clean politics suffered a setback in the last election, so far as the Senatorships were concerned—in New Jersey in the defeat of Everett Colby and in Missouri, when "Gumshoe Bill" Stone will succeed himself, having defeated Governor Folk. It may be true, as Governor Folk's enemies charge, that as Governor he did not fulfill the expectations inspired by his work as Circuit Attorney, but at any rate he is honest, which probably is more than could be said for Stone, and there is no doubt that he would be in every way a better and more useful Senator than Stone has shown himself to be. Folk is still a young man and it is hardly likely that this defeat will be a permanent extinguisher to his career. If the people of Missouri are wise they will keep him in mind for future political honors.

Governor Cummins' reputation was made as a tariff reformer—a curious fact when it is recalled that his efforts for revision were made entirely during his gubernatorial term and not in Congress. He was almost the first outspoken advocate of revision of the Dingley schedules, and succeeded in gathering an influential following long before the question was seriously taken up by his party. Continued agitation of this subject has kept him in the public eye and last Fall he was a formidable candidate for the Senate against the veteran Allison. The death of Senator Allison made Cummins' succession inevitable and there has been no serious opposition to him. He is a man of considerable ability and is not afraid to say what he thinks, so it is not at all improbable that he will become a leader in the Senate before the end of his term.

LORD ROBERTS' WARNING.

THERE is not much in the news from Europe these days to encourage the advocates of universal peace. Since the beginning of the era of standing armies Europe has been an armed camp, and despite the occasional holding of peace conferences at The Hague there is a constant tendency to increase the strength of armaments and the preparedness for war. A month ago Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria assumed the title of Czar and threatened a war on Turkey, and at the same time King Peter of Servia indulged in a good deal of harmless blustering against Austria. For a while it looked as if somebody would be hurt, and all of the foreign officers in Europe experienced a scare, for the balance of power in the Balkans is so delicately adjusted that a little thing might upset it. But the war cloud blew over and Europe breathed easier.

Then the German Kaiser started another scare by his ill-advised interview in the London Daily Telegraph. The most serious effect of this has been at home, where it has resulted in His Imperial Majesty getting the most artistic dressing down that has ever been administered to him. There has been no public outburst in Great Britain such as might have been expected, but the English know that Germany is their enemy, at least so long as its present Emperor rules, and they do not intend to be caught napping. This is shown by Lord Roberts' extraordinary speech in Parliament last Monday night, and the resulting adoption of a resolution authorizing immediate action to strengthen the army to such a point "that the most formidable nation will hesitate before making an attempt at landing."

Lord Roberts' speech is calculated to make the world catch its breath, or at least that part of it that believes implicitly in the impregnability of Britain's walls of steel. The British government has always acted on the theory that it is not necessary to maintain a large standing army for defense so long as the double power navy standard is adhered to, by which is meant the maintenance of the British navy at a strength equal to that of any other two navies in the world. This standard has been rigidly maintained until recently, when the extraordinary growth of the American and German navies gave them a combined strength in excess of that of the British fleet. But, of course, the United States is not considered in this reckoning, for there is hardly a possibility that we will again be at war with Great Britain, and certainly none that we will ever be allied with Germany.

GERMAN NAVAL GROWTH.

But the Germans do not intend to play even second fiddle in the naval game any longer than they are compelled to, and their present program, which was begun in 1898 and is to be completed in 1914, contemplates a fleet approximately as strong as that of Great Britain. It is the close adherence of the Germans to that program, with its resulting danger to Great Britain, that has excited the alarm of Lord Roberts.

He points out that it would not be necessary for an enemy to have complete control of the sea in order to land an invading force on British soil. A century ago, when Napoleon assembled his army at Boulogne, he declared that if he could have control of the English Channel for forty-eight hours he could land a half million men on British soil and dictate peace in the houses of Parliament. He was probably right about it, but the trouble was that he could not control the channel for even forty-eight minutes, much less as many hours. The Germans have a better chance today, for their naval force is relatively at least as strong as was Napoleon's, while their military superiority over the British is infinitely greater. Lord Roberts says that Germany could easily put an invading force of 400,000 men aboard transports without interference, and this would be but a small fraction of the entire German Army, not to speak of the German reserves. To oppose these the English have in the British Isles only about 140,000 men under arms, though, of course, an attempted invasion would also be opposed by a large volunteer force.

Perhaps Lord Roberts is merely beating the tom-toms in the hope of frightening Parliament into voting increased military appropriations, but whether or not this is the case, there is no disguising the fact that in Germany the British Empire has a potential enemy vastly more formidable than it has had at any other time in the last century.

CO-OPERATIVE CITIZENS COUNCIL AND COMMISSION.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

The recent agitation and decisive vote to have a Charter convention, together with many other signs, show that our public-spirited citizens are absorbingly interested in the general question of a new form of local government. While any form of government depends for its ultimate success upon the intelligent interest and public spirit of the citizens, yet the form of government may contribute to or hinder that result. The Gazette has published liberal synopses of the charters of Texas cities operating under the commission system, and recently the interesting address of the mayor of Des Moines, setting out the advantages and results of the commission system recently adopted by that city.

With a view of broadening the consideration and discussion of the problem of the form of government best adapted by our local needs, the writer is sending herewith copy of the charter of the city of Newport, Rhode Island, which you may think advisable to publish in part or in whole.

The Newport charter, it will be seen, covers the most important features of the charters of the Texas and Iowa cities, and additionally a sort of representative town meeting feature called the representative council. It has been said that "the New England town meeting system of local self-government, admitting the best (Bryce, Amer. Com.) separating as it does the local legislative from executive departments, cannot be successfully adapted to large municipalities." Modern legislation and experience refutes that error.

The committee which drafted the Newport charter believed fundamentally that the administration of city affairs should be absolutely free from partisan politics; that the appropriating and spending power should not be vested in the same persons; and that the people should have and continue to hold the largest responsibility for the management of the city at all times.

To be free from partisan politics the new charter provides greatest freedom in nominating candidates divorced from party names and emblems.

To separate appropriating and spending powers and to stimulate general interest, knowledge of and participation in public affairs, the representative council was devised. The council consists of 195 members elected at large, but chosen 39 men from each of their five wards (we might have 24 from each of our eight wards) elected for three years, the term of one-third expiring each year. In this council is vested the election of all important officers, the control of appropriations and apportionment of all money, and generally with the powers vested in town meetings by their town.

It has been provided that before proceeding to fixing the budget of the year, the balance sheet of the preceding year shall be printed, the board of aldermen or commissioners shall make their recommendations and a committee of 25 chosen from the representative council shall consider this material and make a report in print to be circulated among the voters at least seven days before appropriations are made. This system is absolutely open to the knowledge of all the people, gives the right to everyone to speak but not vote on any proposition, opens the budget to full inspection and discussion by the people before it is adopted, and makes the public the master it should be in all questions affecting its civic welfare.

Two hundred public-spirited men and women can always be found to give the requisite time for the council meetings (three or four annually in Newport and Brookline) and all the time necessary to keep fairly informed of the city's affairs. Such a body, with responsible duties to be performed, would keep alive public spirit and sense of obligation not alone among themselves, but among the people generally, whereas all affairs intrusted to five men tends to stifle public interest and knowledge, and ultimately to inefficient and extravagant administration.

The chief objections to the pure commission form of government which have come to the writer's attention are the pernicious centralization of power and the dangers incident to the possible election of bad or incompetent men to office.

In such a crisis as befell the stricken city of Galveston the people could with comparative safety vest all powers as a temporary expedient in the hands of a few men, but when normal conditions have been restored for a considerable time there comes the multiform hazard of centralized control over "all executive, legislative and judicial powers and duties."

The new charter of Des Moines puts the just-quoted powers and duties of the city into the hands of five men, while the Iowa state constitution provides that "the powers of the government of Iowa shall be divided into three separate departments. And no person charged with the power properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any function appertaining to either of the others." While the governmental conditions of city and state are admittedly different the underlying principle is the same. The principle of separation of powers, at least of the appropriating and spending powers, can hardly be overestimated for our large town and modern cities, because their fiscal operations exceed those of the states and even of the nations, with the consequent temptation to dishonest administration. It is for the political control of some metropolis rather than of Congress that the unscrupulous ring ruler now schemes. In 1907 the state of Iowa had no bonded debt, while Des Moines' debt was $678,000. In the same year New York state's debt was $17,000,000, while that of the city of New York was $640,000,000. This is a fair indication of conditions in other cities and states.

The receipts and expenditures of Brookline, Mass., with a population of 25,000, exceed those of either of the states of Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island. Rear Admiral Chadwick, himself a member of the committee which drafted the Newport charter, said in speaking of the unwise course of joining the appropriating and spending powers: "Our city councils as a rule combine these, thus traversing a principle which it took centuries of struggle to establish and which today rules in every civilized government. It would seem that nothing is more fully established as a great fundamental principle than that the same men cannot with safety be allowed to lay the taxes, make the appropriations and spend the money."

The New England town meeting is the purest democracy—the right of all the people to assemble, with right of voice and vote to instruct the "selectmen" to carry out its wishes. Newport seems to have evolved and combined in an up-to-date form the fundamental features characteristic of the New England town meeting and the modern commission.

As the affairs of a city compared with those of a state or nation are so largely administrative rather than executive, the Newport charter provides for the legislative function in the hands of this citizens' council, the executive in a board of five aldermen or commissioners, elected at large, who give all their time to administration at an adequate salary. "We have regarded the administration of cities as a by-play for men already overburdened with business cares and with a salary not commensurate with the work expected to be done. Men must be paid either in honor or money, and the honor connected with a municipal office is unfortunately not now regarded at a high figure."

Some relief from official errors is provided in the Des Moines plan by the initiative, referendum and recall. These are sometimes too slow in action. The Newport plan provides, in addition to these, that all officials are directly amenable to the representative council. Prevention is better than palliation; co-operative vigilance than drastic correction. Think of the restraining effect of compelling officials to run the gauntlet of a representative town meeting, not a too small or too large one, but large enough to be representative and too large to be overawed or influenced.

We are all interested in national affairs, but have a more intimate relation with our local government. Lord Rosebery of England, speaking of municipal activity, said, "I do not think our people understand how much larger and more noble and more useful this municipal life is going to become. Year by year it grows and grows. I think out of proportion to the growth of the importance of the Imperial parliament," and also that, "No man is too great to serve in the cause of making his municipality a better place for mankind."

The writer sends this contribution to the discussion under the impression that it is well for all interested citizens to make suggestions prior to the convening of the Charter convention, trusting to the convention itself to winnow the wheat from the chaff.

THE KAISER.

From the Kansas City Star.

The greatest surprise experienced by Emperor William in his conference with Chancellor von Buelow is said to have been the broadly and intensely national character of the protest against the kaiser's indiscreet utterances. He was prepared for the voice of the reichstag, but not for the voice of the people. He learned as he had never learned before, that Germany is an assertive as well as a progressive nation, and that the people regard themselves as free to participate in a large degree in the government. Yet there is nothing in this attitude that should disturb the emperor, for no hostility to the crown, much less to the monarchial idea, was manifested. In a quiet way this broadly formulated protest was one of the finest manifestations that a people could make in favor of a modern liberal government.

HOPE FOR CENTRAL AMERICAN STABILITY.

From the Boston Herald.

The international bureau of Central American republics announces a commendable purpose. It is proposed to make uniform the civil, commercial and criminal legislation of the five signatory republics, to establish a uniform customs and monetary system, and to work for the general development of commerce and industry. The success of the effort would be seriously doubted were reliance placed upon the stability of Central American purpose alone. But back of this is the spirit of the international bureau of American republics, and particularly the governments of the United States and Mexico, each of which is determined, for selfish interest, that constant turmoil in Central America shall be checked. The five republics will be given a chance to work out their own salvation, and good government will be assured the moral backing of larger powers and more substantial support if necessary.

TODAY'S HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, November 25, 1908.

Now woman's planet flashes splendidly
Promising luck, where'er her way may be.

On this 330th day the moon on the descending node is in Sagittarius.

The trine of the sun with Venus occurs in this twenty-four hour period and showers exceptional good influences on women and all things connected with them.

Courtships, engagements, weddings and wedding anniversaries are under a golden sign.

An excellent day for shopping, dressmaking or fitting, baking, preserving and hiring servants.

Entertainments and social pleasure are under a good sign.

Mercury in semisextile looks with excellent power on business affairs. Particular influence is indicated for letters, announcements and other forms of publicity.

An excellent day to engage men for any work, either physical or mental.

A great pleasure in domestic or social circles is indicated for women with this birthdate. The unmarried will probably become engaged.

Men with this birthdate should have a successful year. Those in employment should prepare themselves for an opportunity to do new and exacting work.

Children are born today under a sign that indicates a consuming love for the beautiful. Girls should develop a faculty for becoming experts in matters of art. Boys will be inclined to thrift and regularity of work. Under unwise training this trait might deteriorate into narrow economy and straitened ideas.

To make it pay us we must make it pay you. To sell you one suit and lose all your future trade wouldn't pay us. It does pay us to give you every day and all the time such good values that you will buy all your men's wear of us. The suit we sell you at $15, $20 or $25 will pay you well in service will give you the look of a well-paid man. Most of the suits we show were made this month they're up-to-now.

GOVERNMENT GEOLOGISTS IN NEW MEXICO

Preliminary Statement of Coal Land Investigations Shows Rich Coal Field Near Raton, N. M.

During the past summer a party of geologists from the United States geological survey has been at work investigating the valuable mineral deposits near Raton, New Mexico. An area 15 miles in width, extending from Johnson's mesa westward to the mountains, has been examined for coal deposits, and the work will later be extended over the remaining part of this coal field. The area contains extensive deposits of high-grade coal.

As a preliminary to the preparation of a geological map, showing the location and extent of the coal beds, and the depths at which they may be found beneath the surface, the survey is making a topographic base map of the area near Raton, where the development of the mines has been the greatest. Another map showing the real extent of the coal-bearing formation is also being prepared, covering the area between Raton and the Rocky mountains to the west. The coal beds have been geologically studied in order to ascertain the approximate quantity of available coal, and samples have also been collected for analyses, which will show character and fuel value. It can already be stated, however, that most, if not all, of the coal of this field is high grade, bituminous, and of coking quality.

The geological field work in the Raton region has been in charge of Willis T. Lee, a member of the geological survey, assisted by Charles S. Blair and Albert L. Beekly, also of the survey. Concerning the territory examined, Mr. Lee, upon his return to Washington, made the following statement:

"The investigations show that the oldest geologic formation exposed at the surface near Raton is what is known as the Pierre shale—the dark colored formation upon which the town is built. This shale is of ancient marine origin, and contains shells of many kinds of sea creatures. The dark color of this shale has apparently led some people to look for coal beds within it. There is no coal in the Pierre shale, but there are some indications that it may contain oil.

"Above the Pierre shale is a white, cliff making sandstone, perhaps best illustrated in the cliff at Goat Hill, Raton. This is known as the Trinidad sandstone, a name derived from Trinidad, Colorado, where the sandstone is typically exposed. It is partly of marine and partly of fresh water origin, and contains in some places sea shells, in others, plant remains. Although it occasionally contains carbonaceous shale with thin beds of coal, it is not to be regarded as a coal bearing formation. To the coal prospector, however, it is of the utmost value as a reference horizon, inasmuch as it immediately underlies the real coal bearing formation throughout the Raton field. It is easily recognized by its white color and by characteristic markings locally known as "petrified corn cobs." These latter are supposed to be impressions of sea weeds.

"Lying above the Trinidad sandstone is a coal-bearing formation which varies considerably in thickness. Near the mountains it is from 150 to 250 feet thick, and contains several seams of coal. In the vicinity of Raton it may be found 20 to 50 feet thick in some places, and contains the Raton coal, the most important coal bed in the field; but in other places it has been eroded away, allowing the younger geologic formation to rest upon the Trinidad sandstone. In other words, after the sediments which contain the Raton coal were deposited, they were exposed to erosion and in some places entirely removed. This may be seen near the Van Houten mine where the conglomerate rests directly upon 13 feet of coal, while a quarter of a mile to the south this conglomerate rests directly upon the Trinidad sandstone, which elsewhere underlies the coal. The recognition of this interval of erosion is of great importance to the coal miner, for it explains why the coal is absent in certain places where it might naturally be expected to occur.

"This erosion in bygone ages was followed by a period of accumulation of sand and gravel which formed the conglomeratic sandstone or "pudding stone" that is found in many places along the outcrop of the coal-bearing formation. The conglomerate varies in thickness from a few feet to several hundred feet. In the foot hill region along the mountains and in Vermejo Park the basal part of the conglomerate is resistant and forms a prominent hogback. The coarse basal part of this conglomerate, including pebbles as much as 5 inches in diameter, grades upward into finer material and finally shales and sandstones that contain beds of coal scarcely less valuable than the lower of Raton coal.

"During some period of volcanic activity, after the coal beds had been formed, igneous rock was intruded into the beds. In some places it took the form of dikes such as the "stone wall" at Raton; in other places that of intrusive sheets thrust in between the strata. Where a comparatively small amount of this melted rock came in contact with the coal it changed the coal to coke; but where a large amount was injected the greater heat transformed the coal into graphite. This transformation was effected over an area of several hundred acres in the Red River valley. Volcanic forces have been very active during recent geologic time in the Raton region, as is evidenced by the great lava covered mesas and the numerous volcanic vents and crater cones."

A MISLAID ISLAND.

Paris Correspondence of the London Express.

The government of France has mislaid a colony, and the government of Mexico has found it.

It is Clipperton Island, a little island in the Pacific ocean, 10 degrees north and 109 degrees longitude west. It is one of a large group of islands which is visited periodically by a French warship.

Some time ago, when the warship visited the island, the French sailors found soldiers there in Mexican uniform and the Mexican flag floating serenely over the island.

The island is directly east of the mouth of the Panama canal, which gives it a certain amount of importance.

The matter has been placed in the hands of the French foreign office, and "communications are pending." The warship discovered that the French government had mislaid the island two years ago.

THE MEASURE OF TOIL.

It was only a step on a summer day
To the creek and the rock where the springboard lay;
It was over the meadows and through the fence
And half a mile through the woods so dense.
It was down a valley and up a hill
On a winding path past the ripened grain
And you might think it a weary way
But 'twas only a step on a summer day.

But, oh, it was far down the short corn row,
Where the weeds grew thick with a heavy hoe!

It was only a step on a winter night
To the skating pond where the snow lay white,
It was past the common and through the wood
And over the hill where the schoolhouse stood.
It was down the turnpike and through the snow
That lay in drifts on the valleys low
But the stars shone out and the moon was bright—
It was only a step on a winter night.

But, oh, it was far through the lasting snows
To the old barn door we were sent to close!

'Twas light as a feather, the sack we bore
Of shellbark nuts that could hold no more.
And each of us staggered beneath its load,
While often it lay in the dusty road,
Till we got our breath and we made a vow
To carry it far as the dead tree now
And never was burden so gladly borne,
Nor ever were bearers a little worn.

But, oh, they were heavy too far to tell
The pails we bore from the nearby well!

What Press Agents Say

BEGIN TODAY FOR "BEN-HUR"

The interest being demonstrated in the local staging of General Lew Wallace's "Ben-Hur" shows that Colorado Springs with its surrounding country will support the highest class of attractions. Three performances are scheduled at the Colorado Springs Opera House Monday and Tuesday including a matinee on Tuesday.

Seats will placed on sale at the box office in the lobby of the theater this morning at eight o'clock, when tickets for any of the performances will be obtainable. The management has refused requests right and left to set aside seats before the opening of the sale, but it will be first come, first served, the first person in line at the opening of the sale will enjoy the privilege of choosing from a clean diagrame. Prices are 50 cents to $2.50.

Mail orders will be given the most careful attention. Those received prior to the opening of the sale will be placed on file and filled in the order of their receipt immediately after the box office sale begins. All mail orders should be accompanied by remittance.

During the engagement of "Ben-Hur" in this city the curtain will be raised on the evening performances precisely at eight o'clock and on the matinee at two o'clock. The performance starts with a beautiful prelude, "The Star of Bethlehem," accompanied by music of a high order, and to prevent the marring of the effect of this scene, no one will be seated until its conclusion.

General Lew Wallace's "Ben-Hur" is the best and most permanently valuable of all the plays based on Biblical themes that have been presented during the past decade. Religious dramas may come, be heard and enjoyed, but they one and all impress as the veriest weaklings when this masterwork is brought forward. Truly this play is for all time.

The present production is the most impressive and most complete, and not only are the externals of scenic enframement, costuming and mechanical effects, supernumeraries and stage management of true excellence, but the spirit which permeates both action and speech is of the most reverent and of the finest artistic quality. The movement is stately, yet never ponderous; the race scene, however, being enacted with great animation. Christ's influence is made felt from the very moment the performance begins and yet the brilliancy of the action of the play is not lessened or obscured by it. It is a performance of General Wallace's masterpiece at once dignified, worthy, and in an exceptional degree adequate. Its staging at the Colorado Springs Opera House will no doubt attract capacity audiences at every performance.

"ISLE OF SPICE."

Sam Rose, the elongated comedian of the "Isle of Spice" company which comes here Saturday measures six feet five in his stocking feet. He had a soul-stirring experience one evening at Belle Isle, Detroit's famous recreating ground. Mr. Rose is an ardent canoeist and is also fond of music. At the aforesaid Isle one can gratify both of these desires at one and the same time. While gently paddling along close under the arch that spans the canal under the music pavilion, Mr. Rose was run into and his canoe upset by a swift moving pair of oysterers, and in Mr. Rose's own words:

"Well, it was a long time since I had done any swimming under life circumstance, but I started for the bank with my best stroke, and it was hard work hampered as I was with all my clothes on. First I turned over on my back and pulled off my shoes, which is a neat trick while swimming. There were hundred lined along both banks by this time and all shouting suggestions. I couldn't hear them—I was too busy. When I reached the bank there were a ten willing hands outstretched to pull me up—and after my narrow escape, I don't feel like joining the crowd in their mirth.

"What's the joke?" I asked indignantly."

"Why," said a giggling Miss, "the water is only about three feet deep. Why didn't you wade?"

"A small boy fished out my shoes by rolling up his pants and wading out for them."

Seats for the "Isle of Spice" will be placed on sale tomorrow morning. Prices, 50 cents to $1.50.

Sorry You Hesitated

MANY FOLKS HERE SUFFERING FROM STOMACH TROUBLE.

Give Your Stomach a Good Eat Without Fear of Dyspepsia or Indigestion by Taking a Little Diapepsin.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and Stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure the worst case of Dyspepsia, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from Stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go and why they usually relieve a sour stomach or indigestion in five minutes. Get a case now and eat one Triangule after your next meal. They are harmless and taste like candy, though each contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a hearty, healthy appetite; but, what will please you most is that you will feel that your Stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Biliousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach prescription, too, if you ever have Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery, and eat just one Triangule of Diapepsin.

CRYSTAL THEATER.

At this particular time the management wishes through the columns of this paper to express his appreciation for the liberal support of the public, and it will always be a pleasure to give them the best entertainment possible; go to the matinee performance if possible, it will pay you.

Remember the beautiful ladies' watch and chain to be given away next Monday night, November 30.

The program is to be one of the best ever. Special attention will be given on account of its being Thanksgiving day. The headline picture will be just the thing for the day just from New York. "Tale of a Thanksgiving Turkey"—nothing like it in the city, don't fail to see it.

"An Awful Shock," "Old College Chums," are the funny ones. Besides these there will be 1,000 feet of pictures extra, coming from New York. The music end of the program will not be found lacking in interest, the popular little solo singer will have two new songs, one from the comic opera "The District Leader"—"A Heart to Let."

The illustrated song, "In the Valley of Yesterday."

Everyone enjoys the pictures at the Crystal because they are accompanied by the piano and the violin.

"THE CHAUFFEUR'S DREAM" AT FAIRYLAND

Imagine yourself taking a trip in an automobile, running up a mountain side, then leaping over a precipice into the ocean, then again climbing up and taking a straight shoot to the bottom of a volcanic crater, only to be thrown out again, into space, by the force of an eruption, traveling on and on until you land square in the face of the man in the moon. Such are a few of the thrilling incidents that occur to the chauffeur. Don't fail to see this extraordinary picture. "The Man in the Box" is a drama picture of exceptional interest. A cleverly-laid plot to rob a bank, in which a trusted clerk takes the principal part. See the blowing up of the express company's strong box, and the capture of the robbers. Following this are some of the funny ones, such as "The Book Agent," and "Follow Your Leader." These are both great. There is still another full real of pictures, new and novel, requiring another 1,000 feet of film. The vaudeville act for today and tomorrow is one of the best ever given in Colorado Springs. The Hollands in their laughable musical stunt, and dainty bits of vaudeville. An innovation is a novelty singing act. The saxaphone solo in this act, is a treat for all lovers of music, briefly, a decided hit.

The illustrated song, "Down by the Old Oak Tree," is a beautiful song, and Mr. Louis Ferguson is at his best in its rendition. The beautiful set of dishes to be given away can be seen in the lobby at any time during the day.

The beautiful "Niagara Falls in Winter," and the comic picture, "Catch Your Own Fish," have been added to the regular picture program for today.

EMPIRE THEATER

The Empire is playing to crowded houses as usual, and everybody is speaking well of the show this week. Mr. Wilfred and his dog Lottie are well worth the money alone. Lottie is being handed bouquets on every hand. Mr. Fred Stansfield as the Country Parson is making a great hit with the theatregoers of this city. Mr. Stansfield is a comedian who has gained a great reputation through the east for his original and novel comedy work, in which he stands out in bold relief wherever he shows.

James and Prior close the show with their entertaining and laughter provoking sketch, entitled, "The Sea Captain and the Fair Lady." The act serves to introduce several excellent specialties. The illustrated song by Miss Barackman was as usual a solid hit and the illustrations are beautiful. There are two sets of Empirescope pictures.

There will be a special Thanksgiving matinee on Thursday, ladies souvenir matinee on Tuesday and Friday, and also don't forget Friday Amateur night. Three shows daily, matinee at 3 o'clock, evening performances at 7:15 and 9:15.

W. F. BYRNE FOUND DEAD

Laborer Dies in Chair at His Rooming House in Colorado City.

Sitting in a chair in his room, 317½ Colorado avenue, William F. Byrne, a new roomer at the house, was found dead yesterday morning by Mrs. C. R. Fraser, the landlady. A doctor was immediately summoned, but the man was found to have been dead for a long time. It is the theory of Mrs. Fraser that her boarder sat down in the chair some time Monday night, and was suddenly stricken dead. An examination made by County Physician H. L. Richardson disclosed the fact that Byrne had been afflicted with heart trouble. An autopsy was deemed necessary.

The dead man was about 50 years of age, and had been employed at the M. W. of A. sanitarium, north of Colorado City. Nothing is known as to his relatives. A waitress in an eating house on Colorado avenue says that she noticed Byrne when he was in there late Monday night, and says that he seemed to be severely ill at the time.

COLORADO CITY NEWS NOTES.

Members of the Woman's guild, members of the vestry and friends from Colorado Springs, met Monday night at the parish house of the Church of the Good Shepherd, and felicitated Mrs. Tom Burnette on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. The Rev. V. O. Penley explained the purpose of the gathering, and, after congratulating Mrs. Burnette on the fidelity which she had shown in the discharge of her duties, presented her with a gold medallion. An address was then delivered by the senior warden of the church, Mr. Nichols, congratulating the Rev. Penley in behalf of his parishioners for the splendid work done in the church during his charge, and at the close of the address presented the Rev. and Mrs. Penley with a handsome assortment of dishes. Refreshments were served.

Friends of Miss Agnes Bartlett gave her a surprise party Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Longnecker, 923 Jefferson street. A musical program was rendered and refreshments served. Among those present were the following: Misses Bernice Paddock, Eva Sherman, Mary Miller, Bessie McDowell, Ethyle McDowell, Margarete Finup, Edna Barnacastle, and Messrs. Sherman, Abby, Pearson and Mr. and Mrs. Barber.

The Woman's club of the south side is soliciting food and clothing for several of the destitute families whom they know to be worthy of aid. The matter has been taken in charge for the club by Mrs. Ada Roper, and she will receive any old clothing or other articles which may be donated to the poor. Mrs. Roper can be reached at her home, 319 Howbert avenue, or, if called by telephone, a wagon will be sent for the donations.

Barney De Wolfe, alias "Whitey Wolfe," is being sought by his acquaintances in Oklahoma City. Sheriff Charles Colt of that city has written a letter to Chief of Police Wolfe, requesting him to look out for Mr. De Wolfe, who is thought to have become a resident of Colorado City. The charge against De Wolfe is larceny.

A letter received from Dr. J. F. Willard, who is at present living in California, states that he recently caught a sea turtle weighing 250 pounds.

George W. Moore reports the sale of the residence of J. A. Conboy, 28 Monroe avenue, in "the Carriage Spirit," for $1,300.

Today is red letter day for green trading stamps at the store, 321 Colorado Ave. Everybody come and get the stamps. Mrs. J. E. Moore, manager.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Shackelford returned Monday from a visit to friends and relatives in Missouri and Nebraska.

The Rev. A. J. Waller lectured last night at the M. E. church on India.

Coal! Coal! Coal! Coal to burn. Coal that will burn. C. M. Sherman.

NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

Charles Sigman, a coal miner at Papeton, was arrested yesterday by Constable Harvey Gillingham on a warrant sworn to by T. E. McMahon, charging assault with a deadly weapon. In Justice Dunnington's court McMahon displayed several severe knife wounds inflicted by Sigman, according to his statement, during a fight over a game of cards. Sigman was remanded to the county jail to await trial on Friday.

The damage suit of C. A. Baldwin vs. M. J. Wicklin, which was on hearing in the district court yesterday afternoon, was continued to today.

J. H. Caulfield, charged with the theft of a blanket was bound over to the district court by Justice W. N. Ruby on the charge of grand larceny. His bond was fixed at $500, in lieu of which he is in the county jail.

C. E. Richmond and J. J. Reynolds were released from the county jail yesterday after serving 30 days for the theft of an overcoat from T. J. Downer and were immediately rearrested by Constable W. P. Larrabee on a warrant charging them with beating a board bill.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.

Grace and Church of the Good Shepherd Will Hold Joint Services.

The parishes of Grace church and the Church of the Good Shepherd will join with St. Stephen's church in their Thanksgiving service. The Rev. Henry Rutgers Remsen, rector of Grace church, will officiate. Dudley Buck's "Festival Te Deum" and "Jubilante" will be used. The anthem will be Gerrett's "For the Lord is Loving."

Special Thanksgiving services will be held at the Swedish Evangelical church tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock, when Miss Christine Sjolander of St. Paul will deliver an address.

Real Sufferers in Von Vlissingen Forgery Case.

MRS. PETER VAN VLISSINGEN AND LITTLE SON.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 24.—One of the most pathetic sides of the Peter Van Vlissingen forgery case is the sudden shock and change which has come to the wife and son. For years they have lived in luxury and been given every pleasure that they might desire. A beautiful home, automobiles, social standing, a loving father and husband.

Mr. Van Vlissingen's property has already been attached and an endeavor will be made to secure all available assets in order to pay off, as far as possible, the embezzlement. This will leave the wife and son in practically a penniless condition, with the head of the household serving time in the penitentiary. No sympathy whatever is extended to the forger, but all hearts go out to the pathetic case of the innocent suffering for the guilty.

175 TONS EVERY WEEK

SCHOOL SECTION MAINTAINS HEAVY TONNAGE.

Water Has Caused the Suspension of Deep Mining—Upper Workings of High Grade.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 24.—A steady production of between 150 to 175 tons a week is maintained from Leasing Block No. 8 of School Section No. 16, on the northeastern slope of Bull hill, east of the town of Cameron, and operated under lease by the School Section Leasing company, Alfred La Montaigne, general manager.

Of late the bulk of this ore has been mined at the lower level, 800 feet below the collar of this shaft, and has carried an average value of about $20 a ton. The vein at this depth is from five to six feet wide, and the ore has been spotted with small shoots of high grade ore of frequent occurence. Due to an inflow of water from the vein at this depth, necessitating the running of the pumps for from four to six hours every 24, work at this lower level has been temporarily suspended, and the miners in the employ of the leasing company are now distributed in the 400 and 600-foot levels. In these workings large ore reserves have been blocked out, and the same rate of production can be maintained for an indefinite period. The ore in these upper workings is also of a higher grade, averaging not less than $25 a ton in carload lots, and the profits accruing will therefore be materially increased. The gross production of this mine already exceeds $350,000, and the royalty paid into the state school fund has been a handsome one.

LESSEES SAVING ORE

LINCOLN CLAIM BEING ACTIVELY WORKED.

Property Is Owned by the Virginia M. Consolidated Mining Company, One of Oldest Incorporations.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 24.—Hollencamp and associates, who a short time ago secured a lease on the Lincoln lode mining claim, situate on the southeastern slope of Gold hill, overlooking the town of Anaconda, are saving ore and will have their initial shipment ready by the end of the month. At an approximate depth of 80 feet from surface these operators have opened up a well-defined vein carrying two feet of pay ore that is returning values by repeated assay tests of two ounces gold to the ton, with occasional results of a much higher value. The only equipment at present is a windlass, and the hoisting is necessarily slow, but it is the intention of the lessees to install either an electric or steam hoist after the returns from the first shipment are received.

The Lincoln mine is owned by the Virginia M. Consolidated Mining company, one of the oldest incorporations of the district, dating back to February, 18.., E. M. De LaVergne, president of the company at the time of its incorporation, still retains the same office.

STOCK MARKET ACTIVE

SHOWS TENDENCY TOWARD RECOVERY FROM OUTSET.

Additional Southern Pacific Common Stock to the Amount of $74,866,400 Issued.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Prices of stocks advanced again today, and the volume of dealings expanded over the shrunken total of yesterday, but without getting back fully to the daily average of last week's transactions. The market showed a tendency toward recovery from the outset of the day, but the movement had shown signs of flagging when a stimulating effect was felt from the application to the stock exchange to list $74,866,400 additional Southern Pacific common stock, to be issued in exchange for the preferred stock which is outstanding to that amount. The preferred stock, while entitled to 7 per cent dividends prior to common stock dividend claims, is subject to redemption at 115 at any time prior to July 1, 1910. It is also exchangeable for common stock up to that time.

The step was an indication that some actual demand was being made for Southern Pacific common stock by preferred stockholders, and there is the fact that the Southern Pacific holds in treasury $14,400,000 of this Southern Pacific stock, thus liable to redemption at 115, or with the privilege of conversion into common stock. The movement to convert would imply a belief in higher dividend on common stock, while the preferred stock would remain limited to 7 per cent dividends.

From the standpoint of Southern Pacific finances, however, the increase in the volume of common stock with claims on increased dividends would encroach on the claims to profit of the present common stockholders. The fact that this additional common stock has been authorized finds no place in the statements of the manuals regarding Southern Pacific finances. It was stated in connection with today's application to list the new stock that its authorization had been carried with that of the preferred stock, in view of the conversion privilege of the latter.

In the case of the Union Pacific, the stock to provide for the conversion privilege of the convertible bonds has been expressly authorized and finds a place in the financial manuals. In fact, today's perfunctory action makes so little change in the existing status of Southern Pacific, and there was so much confusion regarding its significance that it was simply made the basis of an assumption that more important financial projects affecting the two favorite Harriman properties were thus heralded. It was this assumption that was the real reviving force in the market and in broadening and extending the movement as the day progressed. The closing tone was very strong, and with prices generally up from 2 to 3 points on the day.

Bonds were strong. Total sales, par value, $746,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT IS IRREGULAR

MARKET IS LARGELY WEATHER MAP AFFAIR.

Opening Weak, Which Condition Existed Large Part of Day, Close, However, Being Firm.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The wheat market opened weak, with prices ⅛ to ⅛@⅜ lower, became still weaker during the first part of the day, but rallied in the final hour and closed firm, although December was still ⅛@⅜ below the previous close. Final quotations on December were $1.03⅛ and on May $1.07⅜. The market was again a "weather map" affair similar to that of yesterday, but differing from yesterday in that today the early loss was practically all regained before the end of the session. According to the weather bureau, precipitation had been almost general between the Appalachian mountains on the east and the Pacific coast west, and the indications were for additional rain tonight and tomorrow in a large part of this territory. The market was also depressed by a decline of ⅜c at Liverpool and by continued liberal receipts in this country. Demand for cash wheat at the sample tables here was dull, and prices were weak. St. Louis reported that demand for cash wheat there was exceptionally quiet.

Corn was weak all day. The market closed weak, with prices a shade to ⅛ lower, with December at 63⅝ and May at 63⅛.

Oats were dull. The market closed steady, with prices unchanged to ⅛ lower, with December at 49⅝ and May 46⅝.

Liquidation was general in provisions nearly all day, because of continued enormous receipts of hogs at western packing centers. Some of the smaller western packers were sellers of provisions. Prices at the close were 10@25 lower.

The west coast of India produces an oyster with shells six inches in diameter, so transparent that they are used for window panes.

During the period of holding the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle in 1909, a part and at times all of the vessels of the Pacific squadron of the United States navy will be anchored in Seattle harbor and will be open to visitors. From six to 12 of Uncle Sam's fighting force will be represented, including the largest battleships and armored cruisers.

The driving wheels on a locomotive recently built for a French railroad that is full of sharp curves are flangeless, the engine being kept on the track by wheels that revolve horizontally between the rails.

TO BARGAIN HUNTERS AND INVESTORS:

BANKRUPTCY SALE CRIPPLE CREEK CENTRAL RAILWAY COMPANY STOCK.

Foreign holders of this stock as collateral security against loans made in Europe have given notice that it will be sold at public auction through ADRIAN H. MULLER & SON, 16 Vesey St., New York City, on WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9TH, at 12:30 o'clock p. m.

The stock, which is a dividend paying stock, listed on New York Stock Exchange, will be offered for sale, the preferred in separate lots of 3678, 814, 823, and 291 shares each, and the common in separate lots of 3232, 750, 672, and 469 shares each. Under the terms of sale THE SUCCESSFUL BIDDER FOR ANY SEPARATE LOT MAY TAKE ALL OR ANY PART THEREOF in lots of not less than 100 shares each.

Owing to the large quantity of this stock to be sold, the fact that it is held by foreigners, the local character of the security, the recent business depression, bargain hunters and investors may have a chance on this sale to purchase the stock VERY MUCH BELOW ITS REAL VALUE. Printed copies of the last annual report of the Company for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, may be seen and further particulars obtained at the office of the Cripple Creek Central Railway Co., 45 Exchange Place, New York City, or at the office of Lawrence E. Sexton, Trustee in Bankruptcy of Kessler & Co., 68 William St., New York City.

Once more we're face to face with our great National Holiday—THANKSGIVING.
